Our science transforms the human experience. Our faculty and students seek to understand and improve lives at the individual, group, organizational and societal level. In addition to substantive knowledge in their field, students in the College of Social Science acquire the communication and analytical skills needed to excel in complex and changing environments. The College has made a commitment to engaged and experiential learning; every student graduating will have an experiential component to their education. The College is open and welcoming; a diverse and dynamic intellectual community deriving strength from a plurality of identities and lived experiences. The complexity and scale of societal challenges demands agile and rigorous solutions that can only emerge through exceptional research, teaching and collaborations. Our faculty and students are global leaders in top-tier research while advancing engaged learning and societal well-being.

The College offers graduate and undergraduate courses and degree programs, as well as undergraduate minors and graduate specializations, through its 12 departments and schools: Department of Anthropology; School of Criminal Justice; Department of Economics; Department of Geography, Environment, and Spatial Studies; Department of History; Department of Human Development and Family Studies; School of Human Resources and Labor Relations; School of Planning, Design and Construction (Urban and Regional Planning); Department of Political Science; Department of Psychology; School of Social Work; and the Department of Sociology. As well as through: Center for Integrative Studies in Social Science; Program in Chicano/Latino Studies; Environmental Science and Policy Program; Global Urban Studies Program; and the Center for Gender in Global Context.

Affiliated organizations that contribute to the research, outreach, and teaching missions of the College include: Center for Advanced Study of International Development; Center for Anti-Counterfeiting and Product Protection; Center for Global Change and Earth Observations; Center for Humane Arts, Letters & Social Sciences Online (MATRIX); Remote Sensing and Geographic Information Science Research and Outreach Services; Institute for Public Policy and Social Research; and the Institute of Public Utilities.

The College also offers the Social Science Scholars Program; a rigorous program of study for a close-knit community of student scholars, integrating intensive seminars, internships, study abroad, undergraduate research, and mentoring by faculty and alumni. A number of Departments in the College similarly maintain Scholars programs (including Economics, History, and Political Science).

UNDERGRADUATE PROGRAMS

The College of Social Science offers degree programs through its departments and schools and through the Center for Integrative Studies in Social Science. A student should carefully study the catalog descriptions of these majors before choosing one. The three general types of majors in the college are described below.

A departmental major consists of at least 30 credits in courses recognized by the department as counting toward the major. Each departmental major is designed to provide concentrated study in a specific field; it will be complemented by courses outside the major to give breadth to a student’s education, including an interdisciplinary minor.

A student majoring in one of the schools is introduced to principles and techniques that are basic to the subject area and then learns to apply them in professional programs of study. The minimum number of credits required varies among programs. In each school, the major program consists of courses offered within the school and course work in complementary disciplines.

The Interdisciplinary Studies in Social Science major, administered by the Center for Integrative Studies in Social Science, is organized around four thematic concentrations. Students select one from the following: Community Governance and Advocacy, Health and Society, International Studies, and Liberal Studies. The Social Science Education major is available for students seeking teacher certification. The Global and International Studies in Social Science major focuses on the study of global systems and processes as they are expressed in local places.

Majors in the college lead to either a Bachelor of Arts or a Bachelor of Science degree. They provide a valuable background for those interested in a wide variety of careers, as well as for those intending to pursue advanced degrees in professional or graduate school.

Minors

The College of Social Science requires each student to complete an interdisciplinary minor. Minors approved to meet this requirement include: African Studies; Asian Studies; Environment and Health; Human Behavior and Social Services; International Development; Law, Justice and Public Policy; Leadership of Organizations; The City: Environment, Design, and Society; and Youth and Society.

The college also offers a number of other minors, which may be combined with the requirements of a student’s degree program if desired. These include: Anthropology; Asian Pacific American Studies; Chicano/Latino Studies; Defense Studies and Leadership; Economics; Geographic Information Science; Geography; Global Studies in Social Science; Latin American and Caribbean Studies; Peace and Justice Studies; Security Management; and Sociology.

Students in Social Science may also complete a Minor in Bioethics (see the Lyman Briggs College section of this catalog).

Students who are enrolled in bachelor’s degree programs in the college may elect the Minor in Environmental and Sustainability Studies. For additional information, refer to the statement on Minor in Environmental and Sustainability Studies in the College of Natural Science section of this catalog.

Freshmen

Freshmen at Michigan State University are enrolled in the Neighborhood Student Success Collaborative but may declare a major preference for a major in a department or school of the College of Social Science, the Interdisciplinary Studies in Social Science major, or the Global and International Studies in Social Science major. Students who declare any Social Science major preference will be assigned an academic advisor in this College. Upon reaching 28 credits, sophomores may choose to declare their major in the college.

Admission to the College of Social Science

1. Completion of at least 28 credits acceptable to the college.
2. An academic record which at least meets the requirements of Academic Standing of Undergraduate Students.
3. Acceptance as a major in a program of the college. The number of students admitted to the School of Planning, Design and Construction, Urban and Regional Planning, and the School of Social Work program is limited.
4. Students interested in the History Education major or the Interdisciplinary Studies in Social Science: Social Science Education major must be admitted first to the Teacher Preparation Program in the College of Education.

Graduation Requirements for the Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science Degrees

To ensure an appropriately broad and well-balanced education, all undergraduates enrolled in the College of Social Science must satisfy the following subject matter and credit requirements, in addition to the graduation requirements of the university as described in the Undergraduate Education section of this catalog.

The following restrictions pertain to all courses taken in fulfillment of requirements for the Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science degrees in the College of Social Science:

1. Courses applied to the university requirements in Integrative Studies and Mathematics may not also be counted toward the college graduation requirements.
2. Unless otherwise noted, no more than two courses offered by a student’s major department or school may be counted toward the college requirements.
3. Only credits in courses graded on the numerical or Pass-No Grade system may be counted toward college and major requirements, i.e. courses taken in satisfaction of college and major requirements may not be taken on a Credit-No Credit basis.
4. Not more than 4 credits of independent study, internship, field experience, or practicum courses may be used to fulfill the college requirements for the Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science degrees.
5. Complete the requirements of a major of no fewer than 30 credits with a minimum 2.0 grade-point average for courses in the major.

Bachelor of Arts

All candidates must meet the following requirements:

A. EXPERIENTIAL LEARNING REQUIREMENT

All students must complete an experiential learning requirement. The experiential learning requirement may be satisfied either within or outside the requirements of the major. The requirement may be met by completing a 3 or 4-credit experiential learning course, approved by the College of Social Science Committee on Curriculum and Academic Policy or its designee. A list of approved courses will be maintained by the College of Social Science. The experiential learning requirement is designed to ensure that each undergraduate student will have the opportunity to enhance problem-solving and integrative reasoning skills through practice outside of the traditional classroom learning environment. Study abroad and study away experiences, internships, service learning and civic engagement experiences, undergraduate research, including, in appropriate cases, honors theses, and entrepreneurship experiences can meet this requirement. The requirement may also be met through a non-credit experience, for example, an undergraduate research experience mentored by a faculty member, if approved in advance by the College of Social Science Committee on Curriculum and Academic Policy or its designee. For further information, consult the Office of Student Affairs in the College of Social Science or an academic advisor in a department or school.
B. INTERDISCIPLINARY MINOR REQUIREMENT
Complete a minimum of 15 credits in one Interdisciplinary Minor from a list of minors approved by the College of Social Science Committee on Curriculum and Academic Policy. Minors approved for this requirement include: African Studies; Asian Studies; The City: Environment, Design and Society; Law, Justice, and Public Policy; Leadership of Organizations; Human Behavior and Social Services; Youth and Society. Other interdisciplinary minors can meet this requirement if approved by the College of Social Science Committee on Curriculum and Academic Policy or its designee. For further information, consult the Office of Student Affairs in the College of Social Science or an academic advisor in a department or school.

C. SCIENCE, TECHNOLOGY, ENGINEERING, MATHEMATICS REQUIREMENT
Complete a minimum of 6 credits in Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics courses from a list of courses approved and maintained by the College of Social Science Committee on Curriculum and Academic Policy. Most courses offered in the College of Natural Science and the College of Engineering count toward this requirement. Other courses approved by the College of Social Science Committee on Curriculum and Academic Policy can meet this requirement. For further information, consult the Office of Student Affairs in the College of Social Science or an academic advisor in a department or school. A department or school may require its majors to complete specific courses or particular subject matter areas to satisfy this requirement. The requirement may be satisfied either within or outside the requirements of the major or within the interdisciplinary minor. Mathematics 1825, 100E, and 290 may not apply to this requirement for the Bachelor of Arts degree.

D. DISTRIBUTION REQUIREMENTS
1. Complete a minimum of 30 credits in courses numbered at the 300 level and above. Courses offered by the student's major department or school may be used to satisfy this requirement.
2. A maximum of 12 credits of independent study may be applied to the degree.
3. A maximum of 12 credits of internship, field experience, or practicum credits may be applied to the degree.
4. The total of independent study, internship, field experience, and practicum credits applied to the degree may not exceed 20 credits.

II. Bachelor of Science
All candidates must meet the following requirements:

A. EXPERIENTIAL LEARNING REQUIREMENT
All students must complete an experiential learning requirement. The experiential learning requirement may be satisfied either within or outside the requirements of the major. The requirement may be met by completing a 3 or 4-credit experiential learning course, approved by the College of Social Science Committee on Curriculum and Academic Policy or its designee. A list of approved courses will be maintained by the College of Social Science. The experiential learning requirement is designed to ensure that each undergraduate student will have the opportunity to enhance problem-solving and integrative reasoning skills through practice outside of the traditional classroom learning environment. The requirement may also be met through a non-credit experience, for example, an undergraduate research experience mentored by a faculty member, if approved in advance by the College of Social Science Committee on Curriculum and Academic Policy or its designee. For further information, consult the Office of Student Affairs in the College of Social Science or an academic advisor in a department or school.

B. INTERDISCIPLINARY MINOR REQUIREMENT
Complete a minimum of 15 credits in one Interdisciplinary Minor from a list of minors approved by the College of Social Science Committee on Curriculum and Academic Policy. Minors approved for this requirement include: African Studies; Asian Studies; The City: Environment, Design and Society; Law, Justice, and Public Policy; Leadership of Organizations; Human Behavior and Social Services; Youth and Society. Other interdisciplinary minors can meet this requirement if approved by the College of Social Science Committee on Curriculum and Academic Policy or its designee. For further information, consult the Office of Student Affairs in the College of Social Science or an academic advisor in a department or school.

C. SCIENCE, TECHNOLOGY, ENGINEERING, MATHEMATICS REQUIREMENT
Complete a minimum of 12 credits in Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics courses from a list of courses approved by the College of Social Science Committee on Curriculum and Academic Policy. Most courses offered in the College of Natural Science and the College of Engineering count toward this requirement. Other courses approved by the College of Social Science Committee on Curriculum and Academic Policy can meet this requirement. For further information, consult the Office of Student Affairs in the College of Social Science or an academic advisor in a department or school. A department or school may require its majors to complete more than 12 credits to satisfy this requirement. The requirement may be satisfied either within or outside the requirements of the major or within the interdisciplinary minor. Mathematics 1825, 100E, and 290 may not apply to this requirement for the Bachelor of Science degree.

D. ARTS AND HUMANITIES REQUIREMENT
Complete a minimum of 6 credits in Arts and Humanities from a list of courses approved by the College of Social Science Committee on Curriculum and Academic Policy. Most courses offered in the College of Arts and Letters count toward this requirement. Other courses approved by the College of Social Science Committee on Curriculum and Academic Policy can meet this requirement. For further information, consult the Office of Student Affairs in the College of Social Science or an academic advisor in a department or school. A department or school may require its majors to complete specific courses or particular subject matter areas to satisfy this requirement. The requirement may be satisfied either within or outside the requirements of the major or within the interdisciplinary minor.

E. DISTRIBUTION REQUIREMENTS
1. Complete a minimum of 30 credits in courses numbered at the 300 level and above. Courses offered by the student's major department or school may be used to satisfy this requirement.
2.
The Minor in African Studies, which is administered by the College of Social Science, is available as an elective to students enrolled in bachelor's degree programs at Michigan State University. Although the minor complements a number of major fields, students who plan graduate study related to the social sciences, ethnic studies, literature, media studies, or history may find this minor engaging. Students interested in pursuing professional training in business administration and management, city and regional planning, counseling, education, law, library and information science, public health, and social welfare may also be interested.

The minor focuses on social and cultural history and contemporary issues relating to Asian Pacific Americans, a diverse group who come from varying class, ethnic, religious, and national backgrounds. The minor incorporates an interdisciplinary approach to issues and populations in the United States and includes exposure to current research, case studies, and contact with local communities.

Students who are interested in this minor must contact the coordinator for the Minor in Asian Pacific American Studies. The student's program of study for the minor must be approved in advance and in writing by the advisor for Asian Pacific American Studies. With the approval of the department and college that administers the student's degree program, courses that are used to satisfy the requirements for the minor may also be used to satisfy the requirements for a bachelor's degree. Certain courses in the minor may require approval of the department or college that admin-

MINOR IN ASIAN STUDIES

The Minor in Asian Studies, which is administered by the College of Social Science, is available as an elective to students who are enrolled in bachelor's degree programs at Michigan State University. Although the minor complements a number of major fields, students who plan graduate study related to the social sciences or who wish to pursue careers in education, social work, government or businesses that serve mixed ethnic communities may find the minor particularly appealing. With the approval of the department and college that administer the student's degree program, students may take a second Asian Pacific American Studies or Asian Diaspora Studies course in place of an Asian Studies course. Students may not use the same course to fulfill the requirements in different areas.

The topic of ISS 335 and PSY 493 must contain specific content pertaining to Asian Pacific American Studies and be approved by the Coordinator for Asian Pacific American Studies.

One Asian language course (Chinese, Hindi, Indonesian, Japanese, Korean, Persian, Tamil, Thai, Turkish, Urdu, Uzbek, Vietnamese and other languages as approved), may be used toward Asian Studies courses in requirement 2.

With the approval of the Coordinator for Asian Pacific American Studies, other courses and options such as study abroad, study away, and independent study may be used to fulfill minor requirements.

MINOR IN CHICANO/LATINO STUDIES

The Minor in Chicano/Latino Studies, which is administered by the College of Social Science, is available as an elective to students who are enrolled in bachelor's degree programs at Michigan State University. Although the minor complements a number of major fields, students who plan graduate study related to the social sciences or who wish to pursue careers in education, social work, government or businesses that serve mixed ethnic communities may find the minor particularly appealing. With the approval of the department and college that administer the student's degree program, students may take a second Asian Pacific American Studies or Asian Diaspora Studies course in place of an Asian Studies course. Students may not use the same course to fulfill the requirements in different areas.

To qualify for inclusion, at least one-fourth of the content of the course must focus specifically on Chicano/Latinos in the United States.

MINOR IN GLOBAL STUDIES IN SOCIAL SCIENCE

The Minor in Global Studies in Social Science, which is administered by the College of Social Science, is available as an elective to students who are enrolled in bachelor's degree programs at Michigan State University. The minor should be attractive to students who plan careers with a global focus and who, therefore, wish to add a strong global dimension to their disciplinary majors.

With the approval of the department and college that administer the student's degree program, the courses that are used to satisfy the requirements for the minor may also be used to satisfy the requirements for the bachelor's degree.

The Minor in Global Studies in Social Science is designed for students who wish to increase their understanding of the processes of continuity and change in various regions of the world, particularly Africa, Asia, Europe, and Latin America. The minor provides an opportunity for students to learn how contemporary global systems influence global relations and national trends, as well as how culture shapes processes of continuity and change in one of the major world regions. Multidisciplinary in theory and practice, the minor is based on the methodologies, theories, and literatures of the social sciences and liberal arts and involves faculty from the social sciences, languages, and applied professional fields.

The College of Social Science academic advisor for Global Studies in Social Science assists the student in planning a program of study that is tailored to the student's interests, disciplinary major, and career objectives. The student's program of study for the minor must be approved in advance and in writing by the advisor for global studies in social science.

Requirements for the Minor in Global Studies in Social Science

The student must meet the requirements specified below:

1. Complete a minimum of 15 credits in courses at the 200 level or above excluding any credits in courses that are used to satisfy the Foreign Language Proficiency requirement referenced in item 2. below. Not more than 4 of the 15 credits may be in 200-level courses.

2. Foreign Language Proficiency: Demonstrate proficiency in a modern foreign language equivalent to four semesters of study at the university level. The results of the Michigan State University Foreign Language placement test will be considered in determining whether or not the student has fulfilled this requirement. The student is encouraged to complete a fifth semester of study in the language that focuses on the culture, history, and literature of a developing region of the world.

3. Conceptual Courses: Complete at least two of the following courses that are in a field other than the student's major (6 credits):

4. Regional Courses: Complete at least one course in any one of the following four geographic areas (3 or 4 credits): Africa and the Middle East, Asia, Latin America, and the Western Hemisphere.
MINOR IN LATIN AMERICAN AND CARIBBEAN STUDIES

The Minor in Latin American and Caribbean Studies, which is administered by the College of Social Science, is available as an elective to students who are enrolled in bachelor's degree programs at Michigan State University. The minor emphasizes coherent coursework focused on the cultural, political, economic, and geographical contexts of Latin America and the Caribbean with the potential for complementary experiential learning. Some courses focus on individual countries, while others are comparative and cross-national. Second-year language proficiency is required. Linking preparatory coursework selection to experiential learning (study abroad or research) is encouraged. The outcomes of these projects will be developed, presented, and discussed in seminar series. With the approval of the department and college that administer the student's degree program, the courses that are used to satisfy the requirements for the minor may also be used to satisfy the requirements for the bachelor's degree.

Requirements for the Minor in Latin American and Caribbean Studies

The student must complete a minimum of 15 credits as specified below:

1. Foreign Language Proficiency: Proficiency in Spanish or Portuguese or other relevant language is required and must be demonstrated by completion of second-year, university-level courses or equivalent language placement test or equivalent examination. Students who are native speakers of the target language should contact the minor advisor to discuss placement.

2. Complete a minimum of 14 credits from the following list, with at least four courses from at least two departments:

6. Senior-level Seminar Course (3 or 4 credits): Complete one course with significant global content, approved by the College of Social Science academic advisor for the Global Studies in Social Science minor.
The student must complete the following (15 credits):

1. The Minor in Peace and Justice Studies, which is administered by Interdisciplinary Studies in Social Science office.

The following minors in the College of Social Science also are available for teacher certification: economics, geography, history, political science, psychology, and sociology. Students who elect one of these minors for teacher certification must contact the Center for Latin American and Caribbean Studies, guided research, service learning, study abroad or relevant elective courses approved by the Center for Latin American and Caribbean Studies, may substitute for credits in requirement 2.

3. Completion of the Seminar Series in Latin American and Caribbean Studies through enrollment of 1 credit in SOC 490. Students may opt for an additional enrollment of 1 credit for a maximum of 2 credits. Students will develop a project based on Latin American and Caribbean studies course work or elective experiential learning experiences in the form of a research paper or other creative work to be presented in the seminar series at the completion of the minor.

MINOR IN PEACE AND JUSTICE STUDIES

The Minor in Peace and Justice Studies, which is administered by the College of Social Science, is available as an elective to students who are enrolled in bachelor’s degree programs at Michigan State University. The minor explores issues of human rights, social justice, environmental justice, economic justice, activism, peace, violence, and conflict, examining their connections and distinctions through an interdisciplinary curriculum that stimulates students to develop the critical thinking skills necessary to face global challenges. The minor allows students to explore a range of thematic issues by developing a series of critical analytics that enable them to discern how power and injustice operate. Students will use critical thinking skills to analyze particular case studies or thematic issues.

With the approval of the department and the college that administer the student’s degree program, the courses that are used to satisfy the requirements for the minor may also be used to satisfy the requirements for the bachelor’s degree.

The student’s program of study must be approved by the undergraduate advisor for Peace and Justice Studies before enrollment.

Requirements for the Minor in Peace and Justice Studies

3. Completion of a Capstone Paper. This paper may derive from one of the courses completed for requirements 1. or 2. It is intended to synthesize the themes the student examined in the minor. A faculty member affiliated with the Minor in Peace and Justice Studies must approve the paper and inform the undergraduate advisor for Peace and Justice Studies of its satisfactory completion.

TEACHER CERTIFICATION OPTIONS

Teacher certification can be attained through the Child Development, History, or Interdisciplinary Studies in Social Science: Social Science Education major. Students who elect the Interdisciplinary Studies in Social Science: Social Science Education major for teacher certification must contact the Interdisciplinary Studies in Social Science office.

The following minors in the College of Social Science also are available for teacher certification: economics, geography, history, political science, psychology, and sociology. Students who elect one of these minors for teacher certification must contact the department in which the minor is based.

For more information, refer to the statement on the major referenced above and to the statement on TEACHER CERTIFICATION in the Department of Teacher Education section of this catalog.
GRADUATE STUDY

Units within the College of Social Science offer programs leading to degrees of Master of Arts, Master of International Planning Studies, Master of Human Resources and Labor Relations, Master of Public Policy, Master of Science, Master of Social Work, Master of Urban and Regional Planning, and Doctor of Philosophy.

The following dual degree program is co-sponsored by the College of Social Science and Michigan State University College of Law: Master of Human Resources and Labor Relations and J.D. For information about the following interdisciplinary specializations, graduate certificates, and degree programs, see the referenced section of this catalog. The College of Social Science is lead sponsor of:

1. Graduate Specialization in Animal Studies: Social Science and Humanities Perspective, for all master's and doctoral students at Michigan State University (see statement on this specialization in the Department of Sociology section)
2. Interdepartmental Graduate Specialization in Infancy and Early Childhood, for master’s or doctoral students in the departments of Anthropology, Psychology or Sociology, or MSW students in the School of Social Work, and in a number of other departments and programs at MSU (see statement on this specialization, below)
3. Graduate Specialization in International Development, for all master’s or doctoral students at Michigan State University (see statement on this specialization, below)
4. Interdepartmental Graduate Specialization in Cognitive Science, for master’s or doctoral students in Geography or Psychology, and in a number of other departments and programs at MSU (see statement on this specialization, below)
5. Graduate Specialization in Environmental Policy for master’s or doctoral students enrolled in master's or doctoral degree programs at Michigan State University (see statement on this specialization below)
6. Graduate Specialization in Environmental Science and Policy for doctoral students enrolled in doctoral degree programs in departments and programs emphasizing environmental science and policy (see statement on this specialization, below)
7. Graduate Specialization in Judicial Administration for all master’s students at Michigan State University (see statement on this specialization in the School of Criminal Justice section)
8. Graduate Specialization in Security Management, for master's degree students enrolled in master's degree programs at Michigan State University (see statement on this specialization in the School of Criminal Justice section)
9. Graduate Specialization in Forensic Science, for doctoral students enrolled in doctoral degree programs at Michigan State University (see statement on this specialization in the School of Criminal Justice section)
10. Graduate Specialization in Global Urban Studies, for doctoral students enrolled in doctoral degree programs at Michigan State University (see statement on this specialization below)
11. Graduate Certificate in Chicano/Latino Studies, for graduate students enrolled in a graduate degree program at Michigan State University (see statement on this certificate below)
12. Graduate Certificates in Youth Development and Youth Program Management and Evaluation, in collaboration with The Great Plains Interactive Distance Education Alliance (GPIDEA) (see statements on these certificates in the Department of Human Development and Family Studies section)
13. Graduate Certificate in Environmental and Social System Modeling, for graduate students enrolled in a graduate degree program at Michigan State University (see statement on this certificate below).

The College of Social Science is a co-sponsor of:

1. Interdepartmental Ph.D. program in Ecology, Evolutionary Biology and Behavior for doctoral students in Anthropology or Psychology (see statement on this doctoral program in the College of Natural Science section)
2. Graduate Specialization in Food Safety for master’s students in Sociology (see statement on this specialization in the College of Veterinary Medicine section)
3. Interdepartmental Ph.D. degree program in Neuroscience (see statement on this doctoral program in the College of Natural Science section)
4. Graduate Specialization in Gender, Justice, and Environmental Change, for master’s or doctoral students in the College of Social Science (see statement on this specialization in the College of Agriculture and Natural Resources section)
5. Interdisciplinary Graduate Specialization in Women’s and Gender Studies, which is administered by the Program in Women, Gender and Social Justice, for master’s or doctoral students (see statement on this specialization in the College of Arts and Letters section)

Requirements for the various degrees are summarized below. For complete requirements of any given program or degree, contact the appropriate unit in the college and see the Graduate Education section of this catalog. A student must meet the standards of the university, college, and unit.

Master of Arts

Most students in the College of Social Science pursue the Master of Arts degree, although several other master's degree programs are available through the college.

Requirements for the Degree

A maximum of 8 credits is allowed for thesis research.

Academic Standards

The accumulation of grades below 3.0 (including N grades in the P–N grading system) in more than two courses of three or more credits each removes the student from the degree program; this policy does not apply to courses below the 400 level unless the courses are required for the student's program.

Time Limit

The time limit for completion of the master's degree is six years from the beginning of the first semester in which credit was earned toward the degree.

Other Master’s Degrees

Other degrees at the master's level offered by the college are listed below. For a description and summary of the requirements for each degree, consult the section of this catalog devoted to the appropriate department or school. The statements on Academic Standards and Time Limit for the Master of Arts degree also apply to all other master's degrees in the college.

Doctor of Philosophy

The successful completion of the Doctor of Philosophy degree requires scholarly ability of a high order. Ph.D. degree programs, with emphasis on specialization and research, are offered in each of the departments in the College of Social Science.

Academic Standards

A doctoral student may earn grades below 3.0 (including N grades in the P–N grading system) in not more than two of the courses required by the guidance committee.

CHICANO/LATINO STUDIES

The Doctor of Philosophy degree program in Chicano/Latino Studies prepares scholars, researchers, and teachers in the social sciences and humanities to develop expertise in the historical and contemporary experiences of Chicanos and Latinos in their social, cultural, political, and economic contexts. The program emphasizes global, trans-disciplinary, comparative, and applied approaches to knowledge which enhance collaborative scholarly efforts within the university, peer educational institutions, and the broader community. It addresses Chicano and Latino experiences in home communities in the United States, and international dimensions and diaspora experiences involving communities in the United States, Latin America, and the Caribbean.

In addition to meeting the requirements of the university and of the College of Social Science, students must meet the requirements specified below.

Admission

Admission to the Doctor of Philosophy degree in Chicano/Latino Studies is based on an evaluation of the student's academic record. Applicants must have completed a bachelor's degree and a master's degree. Graduate Record Examination (GRE) General Test scores, letters of recommendation, written statements, and other information such as professional experience and related achievements. Applicants without master's degrees or sufficient course work may be admitted provisionally and be required to complete a specified number of collateral courses, not to count toward the degree, before regular admission is granted.

Guidance Committee

The graduate director will guide students in the selection of courses for the first year. By the end of the second semester of the first year, students should choose their major professor and their guidance committee. The committee shall consist of at least four members, at least two in Chicano/Latino Studies and up to two in related fields.

Requirements for the Doctor of Philosophy Degree in Chicano/Latino Studies

1. Students must complete 30 credits from the following:
   a. All of the following courses:
      - CLS 810 Historiography and Social Science Methods in Chicano/Latino Studies .................................................. 3
      - CLS 811 Literary and Cultural Theory in Chicano/Latino Studies ................................................................. 3
      - CLS 893E Readings in Chicano/Latino Studies ............................................................. 1 to 4
   b. A minimum of 3 credits in research methods in an area of specialization.
   c. Electives from the following: American studies, anthropology, English, history of art, history, music, resource development, sociology, and Spanish. The course work must be selected from an approved course list in consultation with the student's guidance committee.
2. Complete Spanish, Nahuatl, or another Amerindian language to fulfill the language requirement. Demonstrate advanced reading proficiency by passing oral and written examinations.
3. Pass two comprehensive written examinations as arranged by the guidance committee, one in Chicano/Latino Studies and one in the student's area of specialization.
5. Submit the dissertation proposal to the guidance committee and successfully pass the oral examination in defense of the dissertation.

GRADUATE CERTIFICATE IN CHICANO/LATINO STUDIES

The Graduate Certificate in Chicano/Latino Studies exposes students to methodologies specific to Chicano/Latino Studies, and to debates in the field that reflect larger transformations in United States culture and society. Students interested in research related to Chicanos and Latinos in the United States will find this certificate program of interest.

Admission

To be considered for admission to the Graduate Certificate in Chicano/Latino Studies, students must:
1. Have a bachelor's degree.
2. Be currently enrolled in a Michigan State University graduate degree program other than the Doctor of Philosophy degree program in Chicano/Latino Studies.
3. Have a minimum grade-point average of 3.0.

Requirements for the Graduate Certificate in Chicano/Latino Studies

1. Complete all of the following courses (9 credits):
   - CLS 810 Historiography and Social Science Methods in Chicano/Latino Studies .................................................. 3
   - CLS 811 Literary and Cultural Theory in Chicano/Latino Studies ................................................................. 3
   - CLS 896 Seminar in Chicano/Latino Studies ............................................................. 3
2. Complete 3 credits in related content from another department or graduate-level program as approved by the Chicano/Latino director. This requirement may be met by either: (1) a graduate-level course that includes at least 50% Chicano/Latino studies content, or (2) a graduate-level course in which the student completes a research assignment addressing a Chicano/Latino studies topic related to course content.

GRADUATE CERTIFICATE IN ENVIRONMENTAL AND SOCIAL SYSTEM MODELING

The Graduate Certificate in Environmental and Social System Modeling is designed for students who desire to understand a variety of modeling techniques used to address environmental problems that span human and natural systems. The certificate program exposes students to a range of state-of-the-art techniques including agent-based modeling, systems dynamics modeling, multilevel modeling, and structural equation modeling.

Requirements for the Graduate Certificate in Environmental and Social System Modeling

1. Both of the following courses (3 credits):
   - ESP 850 Introduction to Environmental and Social System Modeling ................................................................. 1
   - ESP 890 Modeling Environmental and Social Systems ............................................................. 2
2. Two of the following courses (6 credits):
CENTER for INTEGRATIVE STUDIES in SOCIAL SCIENCE

Gerald Ericksen, Director

Integrative Studies is Michigan State University's unique approach to liberal general education, offering a core curriculum that complements specialized work by students in their majors. Integrative Studies courses integrate multiple ways of knowing and modes of inquiry and introduce students to important ways of thinking in the three core knowledge areas: the Arts and Humanities, the Biological and Physical Sciences, and the Social, Behavioral, and Economic Sciences. They assist students early during their study to develop as more critical thinkers. They also encourage appreciation of our humanity and creativity, human cultural diversity, the power of knowledge, and our responsibilities for ourselves and for our world.

Courses in Michigan State University’s Integrative Studies Program are aimed at developing intellectual abilities, including critical thinking and interpretive skills. They help increase knowledge about other times, places, and cultures, key ideas and issues in human experience, and the scientific method and its usefulness in understanding the natural and social worlds. They are expected to enhance appreciation of the role of knowledge, and of values and ethics, in understanding human behavior and solving social problems. Finally, they help students recognize responsibilities and opportunities associated with democratic citizenship and with living in an increasingly interconnected, interdependent world.

The Center for Integrative Studies in the Arts and Humanities in the College of Arts and Letters has primary responsibility for the Arts and Humanities area of Integrative Studies at Michigan State University.

The Center for Integrative Studies in General Sciences in the College of Natural Sciences has primary responsibility for Integrative Studies courses in the Biological and Physical Sciences at Michigan State University.

The Center for Integrative Studies in the Social Sciences in the College of Social Science has primary responsibility for Integrative Studies courses in the Social, Behavioral, and Economic Sciences at Michigan State University.

GLOBAL and AREA STUDIES-SOCIAL SCIENCE

Requirements for the Bachelor of Science Degree in Global and Area Studies

(This program is currently in moratorium and will be discontinued. New students should contact the College of Social Science)

GLOBAL and INTERNATIONAL STUDIES IN SOCIAL SCIENCE

UNDERGRADUATE PROGRAM

The Global and International Studies in Social Science major provides students with breadth in social science foundational courses combined with in-depth knowledge in a world region or global topic. World region concentrations include African Studies, Asian Studies, Canadian Studies, European Studies, Latin American and Caribbean Studies, Middle Eastern Studies, and Russian and Eurasian Studies. Global topical concentrations include Gender and Global Change and International Development. Students enrolled in a concentration cannot complete a minor in the same concentration area.

In addition to academic focus on a region or theme, students must demonstrate second-year foreign language proficiency relevant to their course of study. Students develop understanding of the processes of continuity and change in various world regions through multidisciplinary theory and practice and use of methodologies, theories, and literatures of various disciplines and fields.

Students are strongly encouraged to have at least one international experience through study abroad, internships, or independent study. The major helps prepare students for jobs in government, business, and non-governmental organizations that are engaged with the world outside the United States and for graduate study in international or area studies and other fields.

Upon completion of the Bachelor of Arts Degree in Global and International Studies in Social Science, students will be able to 1) summarize the most important topics relevant to the global or thematic area under study; (2) draw on theories from at least two social science disciplines to explain the social issues present in the area or theme of study; (3) use social science research methods to assess the impact of relevant topics on the global or thematic area of study; and (4) explain how social science intersects with other disciplines to enhance understanding of global or thematic topics.

Students must select one of the following concentrations:

- African Studies. The African Studies concentration provides an interdisciplinary education focused on African history, language, culture and society.

- Asian Studies. The Asian Studies concentration offers students an interdisciplinary education on Asia, particularly South Asia, Southeast Asia and East Asia. Courses focus on the culture, politics, languages and economy of Asian countries.

- Canadian Studies. The Canadian Studies concentration focuses studies on Canada, including modern and aboriginal Canadian issues. A special focus on the interrelationship between Canada and the United States is included.

European Studies. The European Studies concentration provides students with specialized education in Europe, with a focus on Western European countries. Courses include discussion on the politics, language, history, and culture of Europe.

Gender and Global Change. The Gender and Global Change concentration will provide students with important, foundational content in women and gender studies in global and international perspectives.

International Development. The International Development concentration is an enhanced integrative learning program of study designed to provide students with a basic understanding of: 1) how social scientists approach the topic of international development; 2) how to integrate multiple disciplinary approaches to the interrelationships of topics in international development; and 3) how to facilitate both broad and in-depth understanding of the social context in which international development occurs.

Latin American and Caribbean Studies. The Latin American and Caribbean Studies concentration in Latin American and Caribbean studies contains focused coursework on countries in the Caribbean and Central and South America, and the cultures, languages, and societies of that region.

Middle Eastern Studies. The Middle Eastern Studies concentration contains focused course work on the Middle East, with an emphasis on regional culture, language, religion, and geography.

Russian and Eurasian Studies. The Russian and Eurasian Studies concentration is designed to enhance the student’s understanding of the cultures and societies of Russia, and nearby countries at the intersection of Europe and Asia. The concentration offers an interdisciplinary, comparative and cross-cultural approach to the study of Russia and Eurasia.

In addition to meeting the requirements of the university and of the College of Social Science, students must meet the requirements specified below.

Requirements for the Bachelor of Arts Degree in Global and International Studies in Social Science

1. The graduation requirements of the University as described in the Undergraduate Education section of this catalog; 120 credits, including general elective credits, are required for the Bachelor of Arts degree in Global and International Studies in Social Science.

2. The University’s Tier II writing requirement for the Global and International Studies in Social Science major is met by completing Social Science 499. That course is referenced in item 3. below.

3. The requirements of the College of Social Science for the Bachelor of Arts degree.

INTERDISCIPLINARY STUDIES IN SOCIAL SCIENCE

UNDERGRADUATE PROGRAMS

The College of Social Science explicitly recognizes that many important and rewarding areas for study do not fit neatly within the boundaries of any single social science discipline, but rather overlap two or more such fields. The college also recognizes that many students do not wish to limit their undergraduate major studies to the specialization of a single disciplinary department or professional school. The interdisciplinary studies in social science major provides undergraduates with an interest in public policy, problem solving in society, and community engagement, the core of the mission of the College, a unique opportunity to shape their curriculum to develop interdisciplinary approaches to real world issues at the local, national, and global levels. The educational objectives of the major are to: develop students’ integrated judgment, advanced communication skills, analytical thinking, cultural awareness, and civic engagement; develop students’ understanding of social science approaches to the challenges and issues that face societies across space and time, and develop students’ ability to integrate disciplinary knowledge, skills, and methods to solve complex real world problems.

The college offers two broadly based, coherent, multidepartmental, undergraduate majors in interdisciplinary social science.

1. Interdisciplinary Studies in Social Science
2. Interdisciplinary Studies in Social Science: Social Science Education

INTERDISCIPLINARY STUDIES IN SOCIAL SCIENCE

Students must select one of three concentrations:

Community Governance and Advocacy. Explores issues and problems related to community organizations, political or social advocacy, governance, private-public sector partnerships, philanthropy, and other local, state, or regional matters. Course offerings deal with physical development, social interaction, race and ethnicity, family, gender, economics, and politics as they relate to challenges of community life.

Health and Society. Examines the social, behavioral, and economic determinants of health. Students will gain the knowledge and skills to improve population health. Students may select from courses in health psychology, anthropology of alternative medicine, or the sociology of health care systems.

Liberal Studies. Students will create an individual sequence of course work designed to accomplish study in interdisciplinary studies in social science.

Requirements for the Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science Degree in Interdisciplinary Studies in Social Science

1. The graduation requirements of the University as described in the Undergraduate Education section of this catalog; 120 credits, including general elective credits, are required for the Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science degree in Interdisciplinary Studies in Social Science.
2. The graduation requirements of the College of Social Science for the Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science degree.

7. Disciplinary Cognate

Students interested in completing a Liberal Studies concentration must complete 27 credits of course work in the College of Social Science, of which at least 3 credits must be a course on social research methods offered by any unit in the college. Liberal Studies students are limited to no more than five courses in a single discipline, and are required to complete a disciplinary cognate as listed in item 7. below. Liberal Studies students may only count College of Social Science courses toward their major requirements, but are strongly encouraged to select appropriate electives or minors to accomplish the student’s academic goals. To pursue this concentration, a student must develop a proposal in coordination with the interdisciplinary studies in social science advisor that includes the following: To pursue the concentration, a student must develop a proposal in coordination with the interdisciplinary studies in social science advisor that includes the following:

a. a proposed outline of the course work to be taken with a rationale for each course.
b. a statement of purpose for the proposed course work.
c. a set of specific learning outcomes that will be achieved through the course work that is not available in other majors at the university, or in the college.

The proposed course of study must be approved by the interdisciplinary studies in social science advisor, two tenure-stream faculty members in the College of Social Science, with final approval from the Center for Interdisciplinary Studies in Social Science advisory committee.

7. Disciplinary Cognate

Complete a minimum of 12 credits in courses in one of the following disciplines: anthropology, economics, geography, history, political science, psychology, or sociology. Courses in the disciplinary cognate may not be used to satisfy the course requirements of the concentration. Students pursuing the Liberal Studies concentration are required to complete a disciplinary cognate.

Graduate Specialization in Environmental Policy

The Graduate Specialization in Environmental Policy, which is administered by the College of Social Science, provides students with foundational skills and knowledge in environmental law, economics and policy and an opportunity to gain substantive expertise in the fundamental aspects of environmental policy.

The graduate specialization is available as an elective to students who are enrolled in master’s or doctoral degree programs at Michigan State University. With the approval of department and college that administer the student’s degree program, the courses that are used to satisfy the specialization may also be used to satisfy the requirements for the master’s or doctoral degree.

Students who plan to complete the requirements for the graduate specialization must consult the graduate advisor for the specialization in the College of Social Science.

Requirements for the Graduate Specialization in Environmental Policy

Complete a total of 9 credits from the following:

1. Both of the following courses:
   - AEC 829 The Economics of Environmental Resources ............. 3
   - PPL 807 Public Policy .......................................................... 3

2. Complete 3 credits of additional course work that focus on policy that meets the interests of the student. The course must be approved by the student’s academic advisor for the specialization.

3. Completion of an examination consisting of a paper on the environmental policy aspects of a problem selected by the student and approved by the advisor for the specialization.

Graduate Specialization in Environmental Science and Policy

The Graduate Specialization in Environmental Science and Policy, which is administered by the College of Social Science, is available as an elective to students enrolled in doctoral degree programs in departments and programs emphasizing environmental science or policy. The goal of the specialization is to provide doctoral students with opportunities to develop cross-disciplinary literacy, learn to integrate information from diverse disciplines, and conduct analyses of environmental issues in ways that support better decision-making about environmental issues. The specialization encourages students to develop analytical skills that span both disciplines and spatial and temporal scales and equips them to communicate across disciplines. It prepares students to engage in research, teaching and service focused on complex environmental problems and to develop and disseminate sound analyses to improve environmental decision-making.

Students who are interested in this specialization must contact an advisor for the Graduate Specialization in Environmental Science and Policy in the Environmental Science and Policy Program. To be admitted to the specialization, a student must also be admitted to a doctoral program at Michigan State University.

With the approval of the department and college that administers the student’s degree program, courses that are used to satisfy the requirements for the specialization may also be used to satisfy the requirements for a doctoral degree.

GRADUATE SPECIALIZATION IN GLOBAL URBAN STUDIES

The Graduate Specialization in Global Urban Studies, which is administered by the College of Social Science, offers interdisciplinary doctoral-level study, integrated with programs offered by disciplinary departments and is available as an elective to students who are enrolled in doctoral degree programs at Michigan State University.

The Graduate Specialization in Global Urban Studies addresses political, spatial, cultural, and economic processes and issues in urban areas across the United States and the world, as well as the global processes that impact and unite urban areas. Course work includes foci on urban areas in the United States and abroad; urban areas in comparative context regionally, nationally and internationally; and how the forces of globalization change urban areas.

With the approval of the department and college that administers the student’s degree program, the courses that are used to satisfy the specialization may also be used to satisfy the requirements for the doctoral degree.

INTERDEPARTMENTAL GRADUATE SPECIALIZATION IN INFANCY AND EARLY CHILDHOOD

The Interdepartmental Graduate Specialization in Infancy and Early Childhood is available as an elective for students who are enrolled in master’s and doctoral degree programs in the departments of Anthropology, Audiology and Speech Sciences; Counseling, Educational Psychology and Special Education; Family and Child Ecology; Food Science and Human Nutrition; Kinesiology; Psychology; and Sociology, in the Educational Specialist degree program in the Department of Counseling, Educational Psychology and Special Education; in the Master of Social Work degree programs in the School of Social Work; in the Master of Science in Nursing degree program in the College of Nursing; and in the graduate–professional degree programs in the College of Human Medicine and the College of Osteopathic Medicine. The College of Social Science administers the specialization in collaboration with the School of Social Work, the cooperating units, an executive committee, and an advisory committee comprised of faculty members from each participating unit.

The quality of life during the first five years of human development provides the foundation upon which all subsequent development is built. As a result of advances in biomedical technology, social–cultural conditions, and legislation, increasing attention is being directed toward the optimal development of infants and their families.

The specialization is designed to prepare practitioners to meet the challenges of service delivery for very young children and their families and is based on the philosophy that an interdisciplinary educational program is the best educational experience for professionals who will work with infants, very young children, and their families. The specialization is also designed to provide a knowledge base that will facilitate the work of graduates who pursue careers in agencies, institutions, and government organizations that offer services to very young children, as well as those who pursue careers in teaching and research relevant to the needs of infants, very young children, and their families.

The Interdepartmental Graduate Specialization in Infancy and Early Childhood will:

1. Provide an opportunity for graduate students to obtain a comprehensive and contemporary academic experience in the field of infancy and early childhood development.
2. Help graduate students with an interest in working with very young children to become aware of their professional obligations and responsibilities.
3. Develop an intellectual environment that will foster the growth of research and teaching in the area of human infancy and early childhood development, as well as sensitize students to clinical, educational, and social policy issues related to early human development.
4. Increase public awareness of the critical importance of the early years of human development.

A student who is enrolled in a master’s, educational specialist, doctoral, or graduate–professional degree program in one of the 12 participating academic units and who wishes to complete the requirements for an Interdepartmental Graduate Specialization in Infancy and Early Childhood should send their application to the director of the specialization. Qualified applicants must have a minimum grade-point average of 3.0. Once accepted into the specialization, students must identify a faculty member from their own discipline who is able to oversee their study in infancy and early childhood development, and to chair their guidance committee.

Students are encouraged to actively solicit input from at least one faculty member from a discipline other than their home department, who will serve as a representative on the student’s guidance committee.
Students should work closely with their advisors within their academic units to develop meaningful experiences that are directly related to infancy and early childhood development studies. Credits that are used to meet the requirements for the specialization may also be counted toward the requirements for the student’s degree program at the discretion of the academic unit in which the student is enrolled.

Students who are pursuing the Interdepartmental Graduate Specialization in Infancy and Early Childhood are required to attend monthly seminars with members of the specialization faculty, staff, and other students in the program.

Requirements for the Specialization in Infancy and Early Childhood

Students must complete a minimum of 12 credits for the Graduate Specialization in Infancy and Early Childhood. The student’s program of study must be approved by the student’s guidance committee. The student must:

1. Master competencies through a variety of experiences including completion of a portfolio that demonstrates mastery of infancy and early childhood foundations, and a final oral or written examination across the following areas: theory, practice, policy, and research.

2. Complete 12 credits of course work including:
   a. Master’s students. A minimum of 4 credits of the Graduate Specialization in Infancy and Early Childhood seminar. Students should enroll in an 890 Independent Study through their home department. If an 890 course is not available, students may enroll for SW 890 Independent Study.
   b. Doctoral students. A minimum of 6 credits of the Graduate Specialization in Infancy and Early Childhood seminar. Students should enroll in an 890 Independent Study through their home department. If an 890 course is not available, students may enroll for SW 890 Independent Study.
   c. All students are required to complete an additional 6 to 8 credits of course work from two disciplines outside of their home unit. Students may choose courses from the following:

GRADUATE SPECIALIZATION IN INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT

The Graduate Specialization in International Development are available as electives for students who are enrolled in master’s and doctoral degree programs at Michigan State University. The College of Social Science administers the specialization. The graduate academic advisor for international development, located in the college, coordinates the specialization on behalf of the Dean.

The Specialization in International Development is designed to:

1. Provide an opportunity for graduate students to obtain a comprehensive and contemporary academic experience in the field of international development studies.
2. Sensitize graduate students with an interest in development studies to their professional obligations and responsibilities.
3. Develop an intellectual environment that will foster the growth of research and teaching in the area of development studies.

The graduate academic advisor for international development in the College of Social Science is responsible for establishing a guidance committee for the specialization for each student. With the approval of the graduate academic advisor for international development in the College of Social Science, a guidance committee that has responsibility for overseeing a student’s master’s or doctoral degree program will normally oversee the student’s program of study for the specialization. At least one member of the committee must be a member of the international development core faculty who will serve as the student’s academic advisor for the specialization.

Students who elect the specialization may be required to study the foreign language most relevant to their educational and career objectives, to acquire practical experience in development work, and to complete courses in addition to the courses that are used to satisfy the requirements for the specialization.

Although separate graduate specializations in international development have been established for master’s and doctoral students, a given student may receive certification of completion of either the specialization for master’s students or the specialization for doctoral students, but not for both of the specializations.

With the approval of the department or school and college that administers the student’s degree program, the courses that are used to satisfy the requirements for the specialization may also be used to satisfy the requirements for the degree.

Requirements for the Graduate Specialization in International Development

The student must complete a concentration within international development such as gender and health, gender and work, rural development, environment and development, development administration, nongovernmental organizations in development, or politics of development. Any course that was used to satisfy the requirements for the undergraduate Specialization in International Development may not be used to satisfy the requirements for the Graduate Specialization in International Development. The student’s program of study must be approved by the student’s guidance committee for the specialization and must meet the requirements specified below.

- CREDITS

Master’s Student: The student must complete 12 credits as outlined below. At least half of the credits must come from outside the student’s major.

The interdepartmental graduate specialization in cognitive science is available for students who are enrolled in master's and doctoral degree programs in Audiology and Speech Sciences; Art; Architecture; Anthropology; Biology; Business Administration; Chemistry; Economics; Geography; History; Information Science; International Development; Philosophy; Political Science; Psychology; and Sociology. The specialization is supervised by the Cognitive Science faculty, with one of the latter from a discipline outside the student's major department.

One of the most important remaining mysteries in science is the nature of mind, whether mind be embodied in the neurons of the brain or in the silicon stuff of computer chips in an artificial brain-like system. Cognitive Science explores how biological systems process information to produce thought and adaptive behavior and whether artificial systems can be endowed with the same capabilities. The scientific study of the nature of mind requires a concerted effort by investigators from many different theoretical perspectives, empirical traditions, and academic disciplines. The program will make available to students an interdisciplinary field that encompasses approaches to solving the problems of understanding the mind from a number of sharply different directions. Students will learn about, and engage in, research on these problems under more than one disciplinary umbrella. The specialization is supervised by the Cognitive Science Graduate Affairs Committee.

Students seeking admission to the specialization must contact the Director of the Cognitive Science Program. To be admitted, a student must have completed a bachelor's degree with a grade-point average of at least 3.0 and have been admitted to a master's or doctoral program in one of the participating departments. Students should submit a cover letter and a personal statement describing their interest in cognitive science and their objectives in seeking admission. Additional documentation may be requested.

Requirements for the Specialization in Cognitive Science

The Specialization in Cognitive Science is offered at both the master's and the doctoral level. No student may receive certification at both levels. During the first year of the master's or doctoral program, the student and the major professor select a guidance committee to assist in planning both the student's degree program and specialization. At least one member of a master's student's guidance committee and two members of a doctoral student's guidance committee shall be members of the Cognitive Science faculty, with one of the latter from a discipline outside the student's major department.

Credits that are used to meet the requirements of the specialization may also be used to satisfy the requirements for the student's major at the discretion of the department or college. Courses that are used to satisfy the requirements for the specialization must be approved by the student's guidance committee and should demonstrate competence in at least two areas of cognitive science.

Master's Students must:

1. Complete 18 credits of course work as specified below.
2. Participate in a research project outside their major department, either by completing one semester of work in a laboratory project or by enrolling in an independent study course involving collaborative work with a member of the cognitive science faculty.

Plan A students will also complete a thesis reflecting the integration of the student's discipline and Cognitive Science.

Doctoral Students must:

1. Complete 18 credits or course work as specified below.
2. Participate in a research project outside their major department, either by completing one semester of work in a laboratory project or by enrolling in an independent study course involving collaborative work with a member of the cognitive science faculty.

DEPARTMENT of ANTHROPOLOGY

Jodie A. O'Gorman, Chairperson

Anthropology takes humans and their cultures, throughout the world and through the entirety of human history, as its central object of study. Blending aspects of natural and social sciences, anthropology examines humanity's evolutionary background and development, the organization of social and cultural life, the nature of culture as a system of meaning to organize and interpret... experience, the evolution of societies, and the interrelationships between environment, culture, and shared ways of thinking and feeling.

Providing an excellent foundation for a diverse, liberal education, the study of anthropology fosters critical thinking and prepares students for careers in education, medicine, tourism, business and industry, government service, and other walks of life in which a broad knowledge of cultural dynamics, ethnic diversity and human relations is important. Engagement in diverse experiential learning opportunities are encouraged in field and lab settings.

The strength and vitality of anthropology lies in the ability to approach fundamental issues concerning cultural and biological diversity from multiple perspectives. Major points of orientation within anthropology include the search for patterning of cultural behavior amidst the immense variation found within and among cultures, the study of principles of cultural dynamics, the analysis of processes of change and stability within social and cultural structures, cross-cultural comparisons of different societies, the study of patterns of development of societies from simple to complex, and the functioning of cultural institutions as parts of overall sociocultural systems. Anthropology faculty specialize in sociocultural anthropology, archaeology, medical anthropology, biological anthropology, and linguistic anthropology, bringing multiple vantage points brought to bear on these themes.

UNDERGRADUATE PROGRAM

Requirements for the Bachelor of Arts Degree in Anthropology

1. The University requirements for bachelor's degrees as described in the Undergraduate Education section of this catalog; 120 credits, including general elective credits, are required for the Bachelor or Arts degree in Anthropology. The University's Tier II writing requirement for the Anthropology major is met by completing Anthropology 489. That course is referenced in item 3. a. below.

   e. Four additional Anthropology courses, at least three of which must be at the 300–400 level. Anthropology 101 may not be used to meet this requirement.

Requirements for the Bachelor of Science Degree in Anthropology

1. The University requirements for the bachelor's degrees as described in the Undergraduate Education section of this catalog; 120 credits, including general elective credits, are required for the Bachelor of Science degree in Anthropology.

   a. Both of the following courses (6 credits):
      ANP 201 Introduction to Cultural Anthropology .................. 3
      ANP 320 Social and Cultural Theory ............................... 3
   d. One anthropological methods course selected from Anthropology 429, 441, 463, and 464.
   e. Four additional Anthropology courses, at least three of which must be at the 300–400 level. Anthropology 101 may not be used to meet this requirement.
   f. Completes 3 credits in an area course chosen from a list of approved courses available from the undergraduate advisor.
   g. Complete 3 credits in a topics course chosen from STT 200, 201, 421; or PSY 295.

MINOR IN ANTHROPOLOGY

The Minor in Anthropology, which is administered by the Department of Anthropology, provides a basic foundation for the breadth of study within the field of anthropology, and a grounding in general anthropological theory. Students obtain knowledge of at least one advanced topic in the field and command of the anthropological literature in at least one geographical area.

This minor is available as an elective to students who are enrolled in bachelor's degree programs at Michigan State University other than the Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science Degree in Anthropology. With the approval of the department and college that administer the student's degree program, the courses that are used to satisfy the minor may also be used to satisfy the requirements for the bachelor's degree.

Students who plan to complete the requirements of the minor should consult the undergraduate advisor in the Department of Anthropology.

Requirements for the Minor in Anthropology

Complete 18 credits in the Department of Anthropology from the following:

1. Both of the following courses (6 credits):
   ANP 201 Introduction to Cultural Anthropology .................. 3
   ANP 320 Social and Cultural Theory ............................... 3
2. The following course (3 credits):
   ANP 206 Introduction to Physical Anthropology ................. 3
3. One of the following courses (3 credits):
   ANP 430 Introduction to Archaeology ............................. 3
   ANP 383 Rise of Civilization ........................................ 3
4. Complete 3 credits in an area course chosen from a list of approved courses available from the undergraduate advisor.
5. Complete 3 credits in a topics course chosen from a list of approved courses available from the undergraduate advisor.

GRADUATE STUDY

The Department of Anthropology offers programs of study leading to the Master of Arts and Doctor of Philosophy degrees.

Graduate education in Anthropology at MSU is directed toward development of high achievement in scholarship among a new generation of anthropologists, including a commitment to research, public engagement, and the ethical practice of anthropology. The Department of Anthropology at MSU takes pride in the diversity of our own community of scholars, including our graduate students and faculty, and is committed to maintaining and supporting this diversity both in our department and in the profession. The department also emphasizes the importance of collaborative work with the people and communities whom we study, and the need to share our research with a variety of audiences.

Students who are enrolled in Master of Arts and Doctor of Philosophy degree programs in the Department of Anthropology may elect College of Social Sciences specializations in Environmental Science and Policy; Gender, Justice and Environmental Change; Global Urban Studies, International Development; and other graduate specializations. Dual degree programs are also possible.

Students who are enrolled in Master of Arts and Doctor of Philosophy degree programs in the Department of Anthropology may elect specializations in Infancy and Early Childhood. For additional information, refer to the statement on Interdepartmental Graduate Specializations in Infancy and Early Childhood.

Master of Arts

Admission

Students applying for admission to the master’s program in anthropology will be considered regardless of the field of their previous academic training. It is, however, recommended that students have earned at least 12 undergraduate credits in anthropology before entering the program. Admission on other than a provisional status is normally contingent upon the possession of a bachelor’s degree from a recognized college or university, and a junior–senior undergraduate grade–point average of 3.0 or better in academic studies.

Requirements for the Master of Arts Degree in Anthropology

The program is available under both Plan A (with thesis) and Plan B (without thesis). The student must complete a total of 30 credits distributed as follows:

Requirements for the Master of Arts Degree in Professional Applications in Anthropology

Students who are enrolled in the Master of Arts degree program with a major in Professional Applications in Anthropology must complete a minimum of 30 credits, 15 which must be earned in anthropology, under Plan B (without thesis). The student's program of study must be approved by the student's guidance committee. Normally students complete the requirements for the Master of Arts degree in two years.

The student must meet the following requirements:
1. Completion of Anthropology 840, 855, and 901.
2. A methods course in anthropology.
3. Completion of additional courses in anthropology and other disciplines.
4. Satisfactory completion and presentation of a master's paper, which is submitted to the Department.
5. Completion of an approved internship. Anthropology 900, unless this requirement is specifically waived by the student's guidance committee.

RESEARCH OPPORTUNITIES

The African, Asian, and Latin American Studies Centers offer unique opportunities for the support of anthropological research. The University Museum, International Studies and Programs, the Center for Advanced Studies in International Development (CASID), the Office of Women in Development (WID), the Agricultural Experiment Station, Urban Affairs Programs, the Hispanic Research Institute, and the Midwest Universities Consortium for International Activities, Incorporated (MUCIA), also support research. A program of study may be developed in cooperation with the Department.

SCHOOL of CRIMINAL JUSTICE

Mary Finn, Director

Free and democratic society requires a commitment to safety and security as well as to core values of justice, equity, and civil liberty. Indeed, the appropriate balance of security and liberty is an ongoing challenge of free societies. Public and private agencies at various levels provide for security, safety, justice, and freedom through efforts to prevent crime and to appropriately respond to crime when it does occur.

The academic study of criminal justice through the Bachelor of Arts, Master of Science, and Doctor of Philosophy degree programs in the School of Criminal Justice is based on the belief that the study of the causes of crime and delinquency must be combined with the study of the institutions and processes involved in the prevention and response to crime and delinquency. Additionally, the systematic study of crime, criminal behavior, and criminal justice and security processes should be informed by multidisciplinary theory and research. The challenges posed by crime and security in contemporary society necessitate well-educated professionals prepared for careers in criminal justice, security, and related areas.

The School of Criminal Justice offers an undergraduate minor in security management, graduate specializations in security management, forensic science, and in judicial administration, and Master of Science degrees in Criminal Justice, Forensic Science, Law Enforcement Intelligence and Analysis, and Judicial Administration; and a Doctor of Philosophy degree in Criminal Justice.

UNDERGRADUATE PROGRAMS

Bachelor of Arts

CRIMINAL JUSTICE

The Bachelor of Arts degree program in criminal justice is designed to prepare students for entry level positions in public and private agencies identified with criminal justice administration. Such agencies apprehend offenders, adjudicate alleged offenses, redirect emergent criminal careers, and promote industrial and commercial security. Such agencies also encourage and emphasize community responsibility for the success of their programs.

The bachelor's program in criminal justice provides a basic orientation to the institutions and processes of criminal justice and offers students wide exposure to all of the major disciplines of the criminal justice system. The program promotes general knowledge through core and social science courses. It provides students with the opportunity to pursue interests in the following areas: juvenile justice, police administration, adult corrections, and security.

Requirements for the Bachelor of Arts Degree in Criminal Justice

1. The requirements of the University as described in the Undergraduate Education section of this catalog; 120 credits, including general elective credits, are required for the Bachelor of Arts degree in Criminal Justice.

MINOR IN LAW, JUSTICE AND PUBLIC POLICY

The Minor in Law, Justice and Public Policy, administered by the School of Criminal Justice, enhances the education and training of students who anticipate entering fields that require multidisciplinary approaches to advanced research, professional practice, or policymaking related to law.

The minor is available as an elective to students who are enrolled in bachelor's degree programs in the College of Social Science. With the approval of the department and college that administer the student's degree program, the courses that are used to satisfy the minor may also be used to satisfy the requirements for the bachelor's degree.

Students who plan to complete the requirements of the minor should consult their major undergraduate advisor in the College of Social Science.

Requirements for the Minor in Law, Justice and Public Policy

Complete 15 credits from the following:

1. The following course (3 credits):
   - CJ 490 Independent Study
   - CJ 491 Topics in Criminal Justice

2. One of the following courses (3 credits):
   - CJ 220 Criminology
   - EC 425 Law and Economics (W)
   - HDF 448 Child and Family Policy
   - HST 318B United States Constitutional History from 1877
   - PLS 321 Constitutional Law
   - SOC 131 Social Problems

3. Two of the following courses (6 credits):
   - CSUS 465 Environmental and Natural Resource Law
   - ENG 473B Law and Literature
   - GBL 323 Introduction to Business Law
   - IBIO 446 Environmental Issues and Public Policy
   - JRN 430 News Media Law and Ethics
   - PHL 354 Philosophy of Law
   - PLS 320 Judicial Politics

MINOR IN SECURITY MANAGEMENT

The complexities of modern society have combined to generate a variety of threats to business organizations, information networks, government installations and operations, and individuals. The Minor in Security Management is designed for students who are interested in private and government security.

The minor, which is administered by the School of Criminal Justice, is available as an elective to students who are enrolled in bachelor's degree programs at Michigan State University. The minor should be of particular interest to students who are enrolled in certain programs in the Eli Broad College of Business and the College of Social Science, and to students who are enrolled in the Bachelor of Science degree program in Computer Science.

The Minor in Security Management is designed to help students to understand:

1. The business and technical aspects of protecting private and government assets.
2. The administrative, management, technical, and legal problems of asset protection and loss prevention.
3. Concepts related to protecting personal and personnel rights, proprietary information, facilities, and other assets of an organization.
4. Security's relationship to the value of freedom and democratic principles in our society.

With the approval of the department or school and college that administer the student's degree program, the courses that are used to satisfy the requirements for the minor may also be used to satisfy the requirements for the bachelor's degree.

Requirements for the Minor in Security Management

The student must complete:

1. All of the following courses (12 credits):
   - ACC 230 Survey of Accounting Concepts
   - CJ 335 Investigation Procedures
   - CJ 385 Private Security
   - CJ 485 Critical Issues in Private Security (W)
   - CJ 429 Interdisciplinary Topics in Cyber Security
   - CJ 445 Cyber-Crime and Cyber-Security (W)

2. One of the following courses (3 credits):
   - CSE 101 Computing Concepts and Competencies

3. One of the following courses (3 credits):
   - FI 320 Introduction to Finance
   - MGT 325 Management Skills and Processes
   - MKT 327 Introduction to Marketing

GRADUATE STUDY

The School of Criminal Justice is at the forefront of education in the nature of crime, administration of criminal justice, security management and administration, and the legal system. Throughout the program there is an emphasis on the relationship between theory and practice as well as the interconnection of the activities of the many agencies and professions involved in the systems of justice and private security. Through their research, teaching, and practice, graduates can contribute to the development of improved systems for the prevention and control of crime and delinquency.

The School of Criminal Justice offers a professionally and managerially oriented Master of Science degree program for advanced students, many of whom are criminal justice professionals. The Master of Science degree is offered both on campus and through online delivery. The Master of Science in Forensic Science offers concentrations in forensic anthropology, biology, and chemistry and is only offered on-campus. The School also offers Master of Science degrees in Law Enforcement Intelligence and Analysis and Judicial Administration, which are available only online.

The Doctor of Philosophy is designed to produce graduates who can apply interdisciplinary theory and a variety of research methodologies to the study of crime causation, social reaction, and the justice system. The Ph.D. in Criminal Justice permits students to emphasize the study of crime, crime control, and justice administration while simultaneously developing a strong foundation in social science theory and research methods. It prepares students for careers in college and university teaching and research, as well as for advanced public policy positions.

Master of Science

CRIMINAL JUSTICE

Admission

While a criminal justice undergraduate major comparable to that offered by this school is not required for admission to the Master of Science degree program, the applicant must have a background of education and occupational experience appropriate to the successful pursuit of graduate work in the concentration elected. Applicants insufficiently prepared for graduate study in criminal justice may have to complete collateral course work or pursue individualized study to satisfy deficiencies. Occupational experience is highly desirable before undertaking graduate study in some fields of criminal justice.
All applicants must have at least 12 credits of undergraduate course work in political science, economics, sociology, psychology, anthropology, history, social work, or any combination thereof. At least 6 of these credits must be in sociology, psychology, social work, or any combination of such courses.

Regular Status
1. A bachelor's degree from a recognized educational institution.
2. An undergraduate grade-point average of 3.00 or higher.
3. Satisfactory scores on the Graduate Record Examination General Test or satisfactory score on the Miller Analogies Test (social science professional scale).
4. Evidence of personal traits and characteristics important for scholarly performance.
5. Occupational experience is given weight in the selection of master's degree candidates whenever such experience is important to the study of a specific concentration or is an important factor in obtaining appropriate employment after completion of the Master of Science degree.

Provisional Status
A limited number of applicants who do not satisfy the school's regular admission requirements may be accepted provisionally. These students will be judged on the basis of their potential contribution to the field of criminal justice. Students should not be enrolled on a provisional basis for more than one semester. The student must be admitted on a regular basis to be considered a degree candidate. To qualify for admission to regular status, the student must complete a minimum of 10 credits in criminal justice graduate course work with a grade-point average of 3.20 or higher.

Requirements for the Master of Science Degree in Criminal Justice
The program is available under both Plan A (with thesis) and Plan B (without thesis). The student must complete a total of 30 credits distributed as follows:

Requirements for the Master of Science Degree

1. All of the following courses (21 credits):
   - CJ 811 Design and Analysis in Criminal Justice Research (3 credits)
   - CJ 829 National and Global Trends in Court Planning (3 credits)
   - CJ 860 Historical Foundations/Contemporary Frameworks in Criminal Administration (3 credits)
   - CJ 861 Budget Planning and Resource Allocation for Justice (3 credits)
   - CJ 862 Workforce Planning and Management in the Courts (3 credits)
   - CJ 887 Quantitative Methods in Criminal Justice Research (3 credits)
   - CJ 896 Policy Analysis Under Conditions of Change with a grade of 3.0 or better.
2. Three of the following courses (9 credits):
   - CJ 801 Crime Causation, Prevention, and Control (3 credits)
   - CJ 810 Probation in Criminal Justice (3 credits)
   - CJ 811 Design and Analysis in Criminal Justice Research (3 credits)
   - CJ 812 Criminal Justice Management Seminar (3 credits)
   - CJ 887 Quantitative Methods in Criminal Justice Research (3 credits)
3. Complete 6 credits of electives approved by the academic advisor.
4. Completion of a final examination or evaluation.

Requirements for the Master of Science Degree in Judicial Administration
The program is available only online, under Plan B (without thesis). The student must complete a total of 30 credits distributed as follows:

Requirements for Both Plan A and Plan B

1. Core Courses
   CJ 811 Design and Analysis in Criminal Justice Research (3 credits)
   CJ 829 National and Global Trends in Court Planning (3 credits)
   CJ 860 Historical Foundations/Contemporary Frameworks in Criminal Administration (3 credits)
   CJ 861 Budget Planning and Resource Allocation for Justice (3 credits)
   CJ 862 Workforce Planning and Management in the Courts (3 credits)
   CJ 887 Quantitative Methods in Criminal Justice Research (3 credits)
   CJ 896 Policy Analysis Under Conditions of Change with a grade of 3.0 or better.
2. Two of the following courses (6 credits):
   - CJ 801 Crime Causation, Prevention, and Control (3 credits)
   - CJ 810 Probation in Criminal Justice (3 credits)
   - CJ 811 Design and Analysis in Criminal Justice Research (3 credits)
   - CJ 812 Criminal Justice Management Seminar (3 credits)
   - CJ 887 Quantitative Methods in Criminal Justice Research (3 credits)
3. The following course (3 credits):
   - CJ 898 Elements of Essential Court Operations (3 credits)
4. Completion of a final examination or evaluation.

Doctor of Philosophy
The Doctor of Philosophy degree in criminal justice focuses on criminal justice and criminology and theory-based knowledge of crime, criminal justice organizations and processes and the law. During the course of doctoral study, students are expected to develop the depth, breadth and consistency of their training in research methods and their applications of analytical capabilities to administrative and policy issues.

Criminal Justice
In addition to meeting the requirements of the university and of the College of Social Science, students must meet the requirements specified below:

Admission
To be eligible for admission to the Doctor of Philosophy program in Criminal Justice, an applicant must have:

1. A bachelor's degree from a recognized educational institution.
2. Two of the following courses (6 credits):
   - CJ 801 Crime Causation, Prevention, and Control (3 credits)
   - CJ 810 Probation in Criminal Justice (3 credits)
   - CJ 811 Design and Analysis in Criminal Justice Research (3 credits)
   - CJ 812 Criminal Justice Management Seminar (3 credits)
   - CJ 887 Quantitative Methods in Criminal Justice Research (3 credits)
3. The following course (3 credits):
   - CJ 898 Elements of Essential Court Operations (3 credits)
4. Completion of a final examination or evaluation.

JUDICIAL ADMINISTRATION
The Master of Science degree in Judicial Administration is a Plan B (without thesis) online program designed for individuals desiring a leadership or management career in the judicial administration profession in the United States or internationally. Students who are currently employed in the U.S. federal, state, or local courts or courts in other countries may apply, as well as students wishing to enter a judicial administration career. In addition to meeting the requirements of the University and of the College of Social Science, students must meet the requirements specified below.
1. Completed an undergraduate degree in criminal justice or related social science field.
2. An overall grade-point average of at least 3.2 in the most recent academic degree (master's or bachelor's).
3. Satisfactory scores on the Graduate Record Examination (GRE) General Test as judged by the faculty.
4. Evidence of experience in social science research, such as the completion of a master's thesis.

Requirements for the Doctor of Philosophy Degree in Criminal Justice

Students who are enrolled in the Doctor of Philosophy degree program in Criminal Justice must complete a minimum of 72 credits.
1. Completion of 24 credits in Criminal Justice 901, 904, 906, 907, 908, and 909.
2. Students admitted directly from an undergraduate degree program must take Criminal Justice 811 and 887 as prerequisites to Criminal Justice 906, 907, and 909. Criminal Justice 811 and 887 may not be counted toward doctoral program requirements.
3. Completion of 6 credits of additional criminal justice courses at the 800 level or above.
4. Completion of 12 additional credits outside the School of Criminal Justice as approved by the student’s guidance committee.
5. Completion of two 3-credit doctoral research methods courses in the College of Social Science as approved by the student’s guidance committee.

Normally students complete the requirements for the Doctor of Philosophy degree in four years.

FORENSIC SCIENCE

Master of Science

Several colleges and departments within Michigan State University cooperate to offer the Master of Science in Forensic Science. These include the College of Agriculture and Natural Resources in cooperation with the Department of Community, Agriculture, Recreation and Resource Studies; the College of Human Medicine in cooperation with the Department of Radiology; the College of Natural Science in cooperation with the departments of Chemistry, Pharmacology and Toxicology, Statistics and Probability, and Zoology as well as the Center for Advanced Microscopy, the Genetics Program and the Biomedical Laboratory Diagnostics Program; and the College of Social Science in cooperation with the Department of Anthropology and the School of Criminal Justice. The School of Criminal Justice is the primary administrative unit.

This program is designed to give all students a broad, theoretical and practical background in the scientific, legal and investigative aspects of forensic science while providing the opportunity to study one of the major disciplines in depth. Students enrolled in this program must complete a concentration in one of the following areas: forensic chemistry, forensic biology, or forensic anthropology.

A thesis is required of all students pursuing Plan A and opportunities exist for an internship in a practicing United States or international forensic science laboratory.

In addition to meeting the requirements of the university and the College of Social Science, students must meet the requirements specified below.

Admission

To be considered for admission to the Master of Science degree program in forensic science, an applicant must have:
1. completed a Bachelor of Science or Bachelor of Arts degree in a discipline appropriate to the desired concentration. For example, a student who desires to complete the concentration in forensic chemistry must have a bachelor’s degree in chemistry or a closely allied science such as biochemistry.
2. a cumulative grade-point average of at least 3.0 for all course work in the bachelors degree.
3. satisfactory scores in the Graduate Record Examination General Test as judged by the program faculty. No substantive area GRE exams are required.

Requirements for the Master of Science Degree in Forensic Science

The program is available under Plan A (with thesis) or Plan B (without thesis). Each student will have a thesis advisory committee comprised of the academic advisor and two other program faculty. The student must complete at least 38 credits as follows:

<table>

Requirements for Plan A:
1. The following courses (6 credits):
   - CJ 804 Crime Scene Investigation .............. 3
   - CJ 805 Survey in Forensic Science .............. 2
   - CJ 817 Law and Forensic Science .............. 3

2. One of the following concentrations:
   - Forensic Chemistry (18 credits):
     - CEM 632 Mass Spectrometry .................... 3
     - CEM 635 Advanced Analytical Chemistry II .... 2
     - CJ 819 Forensic Analysis of Drugs and Alcohol 3
     - CJ 820 Forensic Chemistry and Microscopic Evidence 2

     - ANP 842 Human Osteology 5
     - ANP 843 Bioarchaeology 3
     - ANP 844 Topics in Forensic Anthropology 4

Students must enroll for Anthropology 844 twice, in increments of 2 credits.
3. Complete an additional 8 to 10 credits of electives chosen in consultation with the student’s academic advisor.

Additional Requirements for Plan A
1. Complete 6 credits in Forensic Science 899 Master’s Thesis Research.
2. Attend at least one Master’s Seminar Series lecture per semester.

Requirements for Plan B:
1. Complete 6 credits in Forensic Science 890 Independent Study.
2. Attend at least one Master’s Seminar Series lecture per semester.
3. Completion of a final examination or evaluation.
LAW ENFORCEMENT INTELLIGENCE AND ANALYSIS

Master of Science

The Master of Science degree in Law Enforcement Intelligence and Analysis is a Plan B (without thesis), online program designed for working law enforcement professionals to enhance their education and training in the critical field of intelligence. Criminal justice students wishing to enter a law enforcement career with a specialized graduate degree may also apply.

In addition to meeting the requirements of the university and of the College of Social Science, students must meet the requirements specified below.

Admission

To be considered for admission to the Master of Science degree program in Law Enforcement Intelligence and Analysis, an applicant must:
1. submit a personal statement regarding their academic and professional goals.
2. submit scores from a GRE general exam taken within the last five years. The GRE exam is waived for candidates with a cumulative undergraduate GPA of 3.2 or higher from an accredited and recognized college or university, and for applicants with a completed graduate degree.

The School of Criminal Justice recognizes that many applicants have been out of the academic environment for some time, and other factors may be considered in the admission process. A limited number of applicants who do not satisfy the school’s regular admission requirements may be admitted on a provisional basis. The decision to grant provisional admission is based on the student’s potential contributions to the field of criminal justice. A student may be enrolled on a provisional basis for only two semesters and must be admitted on a regular basis to be considered a degree candidate. To qualify for regular status, a student must complete a minimum of 12 credits of graduate course work in criminal justice with a GPA of 3.0 or higher.

Requirements for the Master of Science Degree in Law Enforcement Intelligence and Analysis

The student must complete at least 30 credits under Plan B (without thesis).

1. All of the following courses (9 credits):
   - CJ 802 Proseminar in Law Enforcement Intelligence Operations 3
   - CJ 811 Design and Analysis in Criminal Justice Research . . . . 3
   - CJ 887 Quantitative Methods in Criminal Justice Research . . . 3

2. Five of the following courses (15 credits):
   - CJ 801 Crime Causation, Prevention, and Control . . . . . . . . 3
   - CJ 803 Foundations in Homeland Security . . . . . . . . . . . . . 3

   - GEO 802 Geospatial Technology . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . 3

3. The following course (3 credits):
   - CJ 896 Policy Analysis Under Conditions of Change . . . . . . . 3

4. Complete an additional 3 credits of electives as approved by the student's guidance committee.

5. Complete a final examination or evaluation.

GRADUATE SPECIALIZATION IN FORENSIC SCIENCE

The Graduate Specialization in Forensic Science provides a thorough understanding of the broad field of forensic science and prepares students for the role of court-qualified expert. Students study scientific, technical, and ethical issues and the relationship of their own area of expertise to the criminal justice system. The legal aspects of forensic science presented include the study of court-qualified expert qualifications, types of scientific evidence likely to be admissible in court, and how evidence may become inadmissible for scientific and technical reasons. Students will participate in a mock trial drawing on their systemic understanding of their field of expertise and their ability to explain methodology and evidence to laypersons.

This graduate specialization is available as an elective to students who are enrolled in doctoral degree programs at Michigan State University. The Graduate Specialization in Forensic Science, which is administered by the School of Criminal Justice, is designed for individuals in a discipline that typically does not lend itself to full-time employment in a crime laboratory but may require participation in the criminal justice system in order to offer expert advice. Completion of this specialization will provide students with knowledge of the United States legal system, scientific evidence, and intricacies of testifying, all of which are requisite to becoming an effective court-qualified expert in the courtroom.

With the approval of the department and college that administers the student’s degree program, the courses that are used to satisfy the specialization may also be used to satisfy the requirements for the doctoral degree. The students program of study must be approved by the student’s advisor for the specialization.

Requirements for the Graduate Specialization in Forensic Science

CREDITS

The student must complete 9 credits from the following:

1. All of the following courses (6 credits):
   - CJ 805 Survey of Forensic Science .......................... 3
   - CJ 817 Law and Forensic Science .......................... 3
   - FRS 890 Independent Study .................................. 1

   Independent study will entail a substantial literature and legal essay reviewing the student’s specialized field as it relates to the forensic sciences and the legal system.

2. Complete a 3 credit 800 or 900-level course that is relevant to the discipline, such as forensic anthropology or forensic entomology, and is approved by the student’s advisor and the Director of the Forensic Science program.

GRADUATE SPECIALIZATION IN JUDICIAL ADMINISTRATION

Management of the courts and the judicial process in contemporary society requires expert knowledge and complex skills. The courts need qualified professionals who can ensure that the public receives timely and just resolution to cases requiring judicial intervention.

The Specialization in Judicial Administration, which is administered by the School of Criminal Justice within the College of Social Science, is available online as an elective to students who are enrolled in master’s degree programs at Michigan State University with the exception of students pursuing the Master of Science in Judicial Administration. This specialization is designed to meet the educational needs of students currently working in the judicial system. It prepares students to understand the purposes and responsibilities of the courts; leadership and its role in guiding the courts; and interaction with the community. It provides opportunities to learn how to obtain and manage human resources including staff education and development, budgets, and fiscal resources; manage cases and information technology effectively; envision and plan strategically; and implement and manage auxiliary court programs and required services, which complement and support the core functions of the courts.

With the approval of the department or school and college that administers the student’s degree program, courses that are used to satisfy the requirements for the specialization may also be used to satisfy the requirements for the master’s degree. The student's program of study must be approved by the student's guidance committee for the specialization.

Requirements for the Graduate Specialization in Judicial Administration

The student must:

1. Complete all of the following core courses (12 credits):
   - CJ 812 Criminal Justice Management Seminar .......... 3
   - CJ 829 National and Global Trends in Court Planning ...... 3
   - CJ 860 Historical Foundations/Contemporary Frameworks of Judicial Administration .......... 3
   - CJ 864 Elements of Essential Court Operations .......... 3

   Equivalent courses may be substituted with approval of the Criminal Justice academic advisor.

GRADUATE SPECIALIZATION IN SECURITY MANAGEMENT

The complexities of modern society have combined to generate a variety of threats to business organizations, information networks, government installations and operations, and individuals. The Graduate Specialization in Security Management is designed for students who are interested in private and government security.

The specialization, which is administered by the School of Criminal Justice, is available as an elective to students who are enrolled in master's degree programs at Michigan State University. The specialization should be of particular interest to students who are enrolled in certain programs in the Eli Broad College of Business and the College of Social Science.

The Specialization in Security Management is designed to help students to understand:

1. The business and technical aspects of protecting private and government assets.
2. The administrative, management, technical, and legal problems of asset protection and loss prevention.
3. Concepts related to protecting personal and personnel rights, proprietary information, facilities, and other assets of an organization.
4. Security's relationship to the value of freedom and democratic principles in our society.

With the approval of the department or school and college that administer the student's degree program, the courses that are used to satisfy the requirements for the specialization may also be used to satisfy the requirements for the master's degree.

Requirements for the Graduate Specialization in Security Management:

The student must complete:

1. All of the following courses (15 credits):
   - CJ 801 Crime Causation, Prevention, and Control .......... 3
   - CJ 811 Design and Analysis in Criminal Justice Research .... 3
   - CJ 812 Criminal Justice Management Seminar .......... 3
   - CJ 885 Security Management .......... 3
   - CJ 886 Security Administration .......... 3

   An equivalent course may be substituted for Criminal Justice 811 and 812 with approval of a Criminal Justice advisor.

   2. One of the following courses (3 credits):
   - LIR 823 Organizational Behavior in Labor and Industrial Relations .......... 3
   - MGT 824 Management and Organizational Behavior ............. 3
   - PLS 810 Proseminar in Public Administration .......... 3
   - PSY 860 Industrial and Organizational Psychology .......... 3

DEPARTMENT of ECONOMICS

Timothy Vogelsang, Chairperson

Economics is the study of how various entities make choices with scarce resources. Microeconomics focuses on the choices made by individuals and firms, and macroeconomics looks at the behavior of the economy as a whole. The study of economics is one of the most practical and adaptable disciplines. Those who focus on it gain a broad skill-set that can be utilized in complex and changing environments, and that can contribute to the understanding and improvement of lives at the individual, group, organizational, and societal level.

The Department of Economics offers both undergraduate and graduate degrees. Both programs offer courses that teach fundamental communication and analytical skills necessary to succeed in a wide variety of academic and professional careers.

The mission of the Department of Economics at Michigan State University consists of three interrelated components: providing the highest quality instruction to our undergraduate and graduate students, conducting cutting-edge research in economics, and providing leadership and service to our professional communities.

UNDERGRADUATE PROGRAMS

The Department of Economics offers Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science degrees, as well as a minor. Jointly with the Department of Political Science, it also offers a Linked Bachelor of Arts or Science/Master of Public Policy degree program.

The economics degree programs provide students with substantive knowledge of the domestic and international economy and include the study of institutions, concepts, policy, and tools of analysis. Our students prepare for careers in business such as banking, financial markets, insurance, management, and consulting; positions in national, state, and local governments; teaching; and graduate study in economics and related fields including business administration, finance, public policy, and law.

The department stresses flexibility in each undergraduate program and requires a strong core of economic theory, supplemented by mathematics, statistics, and computer science. Students in each of these degree programs choose area electives within the department as well as in the College of Social Science, the College of Arts and Letters, and the university. All students are encouraged to develop programs of study that are tailored to their individual interests and goals.

The Linked Bachelor of Arts or Science/Master of Public Policy program allows qualified students interested in professional careers in policy analysis, program management or policy advocacy the opportunity to complete both their bachelor's and master's degrees in a total of five years.

Beyond the introductory courses in microeconomics and macroeconomics, the department offers courses in a number of areas of emphasis. These areas of emphasis are listed below, along with their respective course offerings.

Microeconomics
- EC 251H Microeconomics and Public Policy
- EC 301 Intermediate Microeconomics
- EC 401 Advanced Microeconomics

Macroeconomics and Monetary Theory
- EC 252H Macroeconomics and Public Policy
- EC 302 Intermediate Macroeconomics
- EC 330 Money, Banking, and Financial Markets
- EC 402 Advanced Macroeconomics

Economic Systems
The Bachelor of Arts Degree in Economics emphasizes the use of quantitative techniques in the analysis of economic theories.

Requirements for the Bachelor of Arts Degree in Economics

1. The graduation requirements of the University as described in the Undergraduate Education section of this catalog: 120 credits, including general elective credits, are required for the Bachelor of Arts degree in Economics.

   a. The University's Mathematics requirement for the Bachelor of Arts degree in Economics is met by completing Mathematics 124, 132, or 152H.

   b. One of the following courses in the international area (3 credits):
      - EC 306 Comparative Economic Systems

   c. One of the following courses in the international area (3 credits):
      - EC 310 Economics of Developing Countries

2. The following courses in the Department of Economics (15 credits):

   a. All of the following courses in the Department of Economics
      - EC 201 Introduction to Microeconomics
      - EC 202 Introduction to Macroeconomics
      - EC 301 Intermediate Microeconomics
      - EC 302 Intermediate Macroeconomics
      - EC 420 Introduction to Econometric Methods
      - A minimum grade of 2.0 must be achieved in both Economics 201 and 202. A maximum of one course repeat (3 credits) may be used to satisfy the 2.0 grade requirement.

   b. One of the following courses in the international area (3 credits):
      - EC 251H Economic Analysis of Russia and the Commonwealth of Independent States (W)

   c. One of the following courses in the international area (3 credits):
      - EC 252H Economic Analysis of Sub-Saharan Africa (W)

3. Students who wish to pursue graduate training in economics.

   a. One of the following courses (12 credits):
      - EC 406 Economic Analysis of Russia and the Commonwealth of Independent States (W)

   b. One of the following courses (12 credits):
      - EC 410 Issues in the Economics of Developing Countries

   c. One of the following courses (3 credits):
      - EC 412 Economic Analysis of Latin America

   d. Nine additional credits in economics courses, of which at least 6 credits must be at the 400-level.

   e. One of the following courses (3 credits):
      - TT 315 Introduction to Probability and Statistics for Business

   f. One of the following courses (3 credits):
      - CSE 101 Computing Concepts and Competencies

In addition to the requirements for the major, students may elect to complete a cognate in business. The requirements for the cognate are met by completing four of the following courses (12 credits):

   - ACC 230 Survey of Accounting Concepts
   - FI 320 Introduction to Finance
   - GBL 323 Introduction to Business Law
   - MGT 325 Management Skills and Processes
   - MKT 327 Introduction to Marketing

   Students may substitute Accounting 201 and 202 for Accounting 230.

Bachelor of Science

The Bachelor of Science Degree in Economics emphasizes the use of advanced math and science in the analysis of economic theories. The program offers students more emphasis on mathematics, statistics, and computer science, as preparation for those who wish to pursue graduate training in economics.

Requirements for the Bachelor of Science Degree in Economics

1. The graduation requirements of the University as described in the Undergraduate Education section of this catalog: 120 credits, including general elective credits, are required for the Bachelor of Science degree in Economics.

   a. The University's Mathematics requirement for the Bachelor of Science degree in Economics is met by completing Mathematics 132, or 152H.

   b. The University’s Tier II writing requirement for the Economics major is met by completing four of the following courses (12 credits):
      - ACC 230 Survey of Accounting Concepts
      - FI 320 Introduction to Finance
      - GBL 323 Introduction to Business Law
      - MGT 325 Management Skills and Processes
      - MKT 327 Introduction to Marketing

   Students may substitute Accounting 201 and 202 for Accounting 230.
Minimum in Economics

The Minor in Economics, which is administered by the Department of Economics, provides a basic foundation for the breadth of study within the field of economics and a grounding in general economic theory.

The minor is available as an elective to students who are enrolled in bachelor’s degree programs at Michigan State University other than the Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science Degree in Economics. With the approval of the department and college that administers the student’s degree program, the courses that are used to satisfy the minor may also be used to satisfy the requirements for the bachelor’s degree.

Students who plan to complete the requirements for the minor should consult an undergraduate advisor in the Department of Economics.

Requirements for the Minor in Economics

Complete 18 credits of economics courses work with a minimum grade-point average of 2.0 in courses used in fulfillment of the requirements for the minor.

1. All of the following courses (9 credits):
   - EC 201 Introduction to Microeconomics
   - EC 202 Introduction to Macroeconomics
   - EC 301 Intermediate Microeconomics

2. One of the following courses (3 credits):
   - EC 251H Economic Analysis of Russia and the Commonwealth of Independent States
   - EC 406 Economic Analysis of Russia and the Commonwealth of Independent States

3. One of the following courses (3 credits):

LINKED BACHELOR'S-MASTER'S DEGREE IN PUBLIC POLICY

Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science Degree in Economics
Master of Public Policy Degree in Public Policy

The department welcomes applications from Michigan State University Economics undergraduate students during the fall semester of their junior year in order to begin the program during the fall semester of their senior year. Admission to the program requires a minimum undergraduate grade-point average of 3.50 and an approved program of study for the Master of Public Policy degree in Public Policy at the time of admission. Admission to the Linked Bachelor’s-Master’s Program allows the application of up to 9 credits toward the master’s program for qualifying 400-level and above course work taken at the undergraduate level at Michigan State University or an external accredited institution. The number of approved credits, not to exceed 9, are applied toward the credit requirement of the master’s degree. Credits applied to the Linked Bachelor’s-Master’s Program are not eligible to be applied to any other graduate degree program.

GRADUATE STUDY

The Department of Economics offers a Doctor of Philosophy degree in Economics and a Master of Public Policy degree jointly with the Department of Political Science. Students who are admitted to the Doctor of Philosophy program may obtain a Master of Arts in Economics.

The doctoral degree prepares students for professional careers in research, teaching, government, and business. Doctoral students must qualify in general economic theory, methods, and two fields of specialization. The fields of specialization include:

- Advanced Economic Theory
- Advanced Macroeconomics
- Econometrics
- Development
- Environmental and Resource Economics
- Industrial Organization
- International Economics
- Labor Economics
- Macroeconomics
- Public Economics

Substitution of a field in another discipline is possible. The master degree is offered to students who are admitted to the doctoral program that satisfy the master degree requirements.

The Master of Public Policy program provides students with the requisite skills to address complex societal problems, reconcile conflicting political and ethical values in policymaking, make informed decisions about program activities, and provide effective leadership in policy development and implementation.

Students who are enrolled in Master of Arts and Doctor of Philosophy degree programs in the Department of Economics may elect specializations in environmental and resource economics. For additional information, refer to the statement on Interdepartmental Graduate Specializations in Environmental and Resource Economics in the College of Agriculture and Natural Resources section of this catalog.

Admission

Before admission to graduate work, a student should have acquired a minimum of 25 credits in the social sciences, mathematics, statistics, agricultural economics, accounting, or business administration, or in some combination of these fields. Students with limited economics in their undergraduate programs will have to correct such deficiencies by completing collateral courses, not to count toward the degree, which serve as prerequisites for the graduate economics courses.

Applicants to the graduate programs are required to submit scores on the Graduate Record Examination General Test; in addition, applicants should arrange to have three letters of recommendation and transcripts of all prior collegiate course work supplied to the department.

Master of Arts

The Master of Arts degree is available to students enrolled in the Ph.D. program in Economics or, with departmental approval, as a second degree for students enrolled in other graduate degree programs. Only the Plan B (without thesis) option is available. Course requirements include the first-year core sequence in the Ph.D. program in Economics, which prepares students for continuing in the Ph.D. program or for professional careers that call for high-level training in economic theory and quantitative analysis methods.

In addition to meeting the requirements of the university, of the College of Social Science, and the Department of Economics, students must meet the requirements specified below.

Requirements for the Master of Arts Degree in Economics

1. Complete all of the following courses (22 credits):
   - EC 811A Mathematical Applications in Economics .................................. 2
   - EC 811B The Structure of Economic Analysis ........................................... 2
   - EC 812A Microeconomics I ................................................................. 3
   - EC 812B Microeconomics II ................................................................. 3
   - EC 813A Macroeconomics I ................................................................. 3
   - EC 813B Macroeconomics II ............................................................... 3
   - EC 820A Econometrics IA ................................................................. 3
   - EC 820B Econometrics IB ................................................................. 3

2. Complete three additional Economics courses at the 800-900 level totaling at least 8 credits.

3. Obtain a master’s level pass on the written comprehensive examination in microeconomic theory, macroeconomic theory, and econometrics.

Academic Standards

To remain in the program and receive the M.A. degree in economics, a student must:

1. Maintain at least a 3.00 grade-point average.
2. Earn a grade of 3.0 or higher in required 800-900 level economics courses.
3. The accumulation of grades below 3.0 (including N grades in the P-N grading system) in more than two courses of 3 or more credits each removes the student from the degree program; this policy does not apply to courses below the 400-level unless the courses are required for the student’s program.

Doctor of Philosophy

Students may be admitted to the Doctor of Philosophy degree in Economics only for a fall semester.

In addition to meeting the requirements of the university and the College of Social Science, students must meet the requirements specified below.
Requirements for the Doctor of Philosophy Degree in Economics

1. Complete the core courses in economic theory, mathematical methods in economics, and econometrics.
2. Pass a comprehensive examination in microeconomic theory, macroeconomic theory, and econometrics.
3. Complete other course requirements as specified in the document The Doctoral Program in Economics, available from the Department of Economics.
4. Demonstrate competence in two fields of specialization and advanced methods.
5. Present a research paper at the Department of Economics spring conference.
6. Present a dissertation proposal to the student’s guidance committee.
7. Write an acceptable dissertation and defend it successfully in a public oral examination.

Academic Standards

Refer to the Doctor of Philosophy degree statement in the College of Social Science section.

DEPARTMENT of GEOGRAPHY, ENVIRONMENT, and SPATIAL SCIENCES

Alan F. Arbogast, Chairperson

The discipline of geography, as the study of place and space, concerns itself with the analysis and explanation of the occurrence, distribution, and interrelationships of physical and cultural patterns on the earth’s surface. The discipline is also interested in how the earth’s physical and human landscapes change over time. Geography can be classified both as a social science and a natural science as it examines human beings and their environment and serves as a bridge between the physical and cultural worlds. The undergraduate program is designed to prepare students for various careers in business, industry, education and government.

Strengths of the department include physical geography (climate, geomorphology, soils, vegetation), economic geography, environmental change, spatial technologies (GIS, remote sensing, cartography), health/medical geography, urban geography, and nature-society interactions.

UNDERGRADUATE PROGRAMS

The Department of Geography, Environment, and Spatial Sciences offers programs in economic geography, human geography, and geographic information science leading to the Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science degrees. Minors in Geography and Geographic Information Science are also available.

ECONOMIC GEOGRAPHY

The Bachelor of Science degree in Economic Geography provides a comprehensive program for students interested in the roles of space, place, location, scale, key agents, and forces in the economic sphere. The program prepares students to succeed in commercial, non-government organizations, nonprofits, or governmental realms as well as the pursuit of graduate degrees, with emphases on spatial planning and control of issues ranging from transport and markets to poverty and inequality. Students attain substantial quantitative and technical skills as well as practical skills for solving problems drawn from local, regional, and global settings.

Requirements for the Bachelor of Science Degree in Economic Geography

1. The University requirements for bachelor’s degrees as described in the Undergraduate Education section of this catalog; 120 credits, including general elective credits, are required for the Bachelor of Science degree in Economic Geography. The University’s Tier II writing requirement for the Economic Geography major is met by completing Geography 480. That course is referenced in item 3. below.
2. The requirements of the College of Social Science for the Bachelor of Science degree.
3. The following courses with a minimum 2.0 grade-point average (42 or 43 credits):
   a. One of the following courses (3 or 4 credits):
      LB 118 Calculus I ..........................4
      MTH 124 Survey of Calculus I ..........3
      MTH 132 Calculus I ..........................3
      MTH 152H Honors Calculus I ............3
   b. The following course (3 credits):
      EC 201 Introduction to Microeconomics .3
   c. Both of the following courses (6 credits):
      GEO 113 Introduction to Economic Geography 3
      GEO 151 Introduction to Human Geography 3
   d. Both of the following courses (6 credits):
      GEO 221 Introduction to Geographic Information 3
      GEO 363 Introduction to Quantitative Methods for Geographers 3
   e. Three of the following courses (9 credits):
      GEO 413 Urban Geography ..........................3
      GEO 414 Geography of Transportation ....3
      GEO 415 Location Theory and Land Use Analysis ....3
      GEO 418 The Ghetto .............................3
      GEO 453 Metropolitan Environments: Urban Forms and Land Uses ....3
      GEO 459 Tourism in Regional Development 3
   f. The following course (3 credits):
      GEO 480 Senior Seminar ..........................3
   g. Six additional credits in Geography courses at the 300-level and above.
   h. Two courses outside the Department of Geography, Environment, and Spatial Sciences (6 credits):
      CE 341 Transportation Engineering ..........3
      CE 448 Transportation Planning ..........3
      CSUS 320 Environmental Planning and Management ....3
      CSUS 447 Community Economic Development ....3
      CSUS 474 Advanced Topics in Tourism Management ....3
      EC 301 Intermediate Microeconomics ..........3
      EC 306 Comparative Economic Systems ....3
      EC 310 Economics of Developing Countries ....3
      EC 340 Survey of International Economics ....3
      EEP 320 Environmental Economics ............3
      UP 314 Methods for Investigation of Urban Systems ....4
      UP 353 Land Use Planning ....................4

In addition to the requirements for the major, students may elect to complete a cognate in business. The requirements for the cognate are met by completing four of the following courses (12 credits):

   ACC 230 Survey of Accounting Concepts ........3
   FI 320 Introduction to Finance ................3
   GBL 323 Introduction to Business Law ..........3
   MGT 325 Management Skills and Processes ....3
   MKT 327 Introduction to Marketing ............3

ENVIRONMENTAL GEOGRAPHY

The Bachelor of Science degree in Environmental Geography provides comprehensive academic training in the environment and how its many aspects interrelate across the landscape. Geographic knowledge is essential for understanding rapid social and environmental change in a globalized society. Environmental geographers describe, analyze, and explain the arrangement of the Earth’s physical features. With training in both the natural and social sciences, environmental geographers have a wide range of career opportunities in public and private sectors. They find work in consulting, government, tourism, teaching, environmental analysis, non-profit organizations, and natural resource management. Environmental scientists are increasingly in demand for jobs that require expertise in bridging the gap between the social science and physical science aspects of natural systems.

In addition to the general environmental geography degree, a concentration is offered in atmospheric and climate sciences. The concentration is designed primarily for students who plan to enter a graduate program in atmospheric and/or climate sciences, or are interested in employment in the fields of applied atmospheric science and climatology and the delivery of weather and climate services. The concentration will be noted on the student's transcript.

Requirements for the Bachelor of Science Degree in Environmental Geography

1. The University requirements for bachelor's degrees as described in the Undergraduate Education section of this catalog; 120 credits, including general elective credits, are required for the Bachelor of Science degree in Environmental Geography. The University's Tier II writing requirement for the Geography major is met by completing Geography 480. That course is referenced in item 3. a. below.

2. The requirements of the College of Social Science for the Bachelor of Science degree.

3. The following courses with a minimum 2.0 grade-point average (39 to 41 credits):

   a. One of the following courses (3 credits):
      MTH 124 Survey of Calculus I ................................3
      MTH 132 Calculus I ........................................3
      MTH 152H Honors Calculus I ................................3

   b. Two of the following courses (6 or 7 credits):
      GEO 203 Introduction to Meteorology ......................3
      GEO 206 Physical Geography ................................3
      and
      GEO 206L Physical Geography Laboratory ................1
      GEO 305 Environmental Geomorphology ....................3

   c. One of the following courses (3 credits):
      GEO 113 Introduction to Economic Geography ............3
      GEO 151 Introduction to Human Geography .................3
      GEO 204 World Regional Geography ........................3
      GEO 330 Geography of the United States and Canada ....3
      GEO 333 Geography of Michigan and the Great Lakes ....3

   d. One of the following courses (3 or 4 credits):
      GEO 335 Geography of Latin America ........................3
      GEO 336 Geography of Europe ................................3
      GEO 337 Geography of Asia-Pacific .........................3
      GEO 338 Geography of Africa ................................3
      GEO 339 Geography of the Middle East and North Africa ..3

   e. Two of the following courses (6 to 8 credits):
      GEO 221 Introduction to Geographic Information .........4
      GEO 221L Introduction to Geographic Information ...1
      GEO 363 Introduction to Quantitative Methods for Geographers .......3

   f. One of the following:
      GEO 480 Senior Seminar (W) ................................3

   (1) Students not pursuing a concentration:
      a. Twelve additional credits in Geography courses including at least 6 credits at the 300-level and above and 6 credits at the 400-level.
      b. Nine additional credits in courses from the College of Agriculture and Natural Resources or the College of Natural Science at the 300-level and above.

   (2) A concentration in Atmospheric and Climate Sciences.

Atmospheric and Climate Sciences Concentration

1. All of the following courses (24 credits):
   MTH 133 Calculus II .........................................3
   MTH 234 Multivariate Calculus ................................4
   MTH 235 Differential Equations .............................3
   CEM 141 General Chemistry ................................4
   CEM 161 Chemistry Laboratory I ...........................1
   PHY 183 Physics for Scientists and Engineers I ..............4
   PHY 184 Physics for Scientists and Engineers II .............4

2. Four of the following courses (12 to 16 credits):
   CSE 131 Technical Computing and Problem Solving ..........3
   CSE 231 Introduction to Programming I ......................4
   GEO 302 Climates of the World ................................3
   GEO 303 Severe and Hazardous Weather .......................3
   GEO 402 Agricultural Climatology ..........................3
   GEO 403 Dynamic Meteorology (W) ..........................3
   GEO 405 Weather Analysis and Forecasting ...................4
   GEO 409 Global Climate Change and Variability ............3
   GLG 411 Hydrogeology .........................................3
   GLG 412 Glacial Geology and the Record of Climate Change .4
   GLG 421 Environmental Geochemistry .........................4
   GLG 427 Surface Water Hydrometeorology ...................3
   BDI 303 Oceanography ........................................4

   Students in the concentration may use GEO courses in items c., d., and e. above, towards the College of Social Science college distribution requirement. Students in the concentration are not required to complete the College of Social Science ARTS AND HUMANITIES distribution requirement.

GEORGRAPHIC INFORMATION SCIENCE

The Bachelor of Science Degree in Geographic Information Science provides a rigorous, in-depth program for students interested in the application of information technology to the spatial dimensions of the Earth’s human and physical systems. It is an ideal program for those pursuing a career in the spatial technology sector, or for those considering graduate study in geography and related disciplines. Students attain substantial general quantitative and technical skills, as well as practical experience in the application of skills to solving problems drawn from local, regional, and global settings.

Requirements for the Bachelor of Science Degree in Geographic Information Science

1. The University requirements for bachelor's degrees as described in the Undergraduate Education section of this catalog; 120 credits, including general elective credits, are required for the Bachelor of Science degree in Geographic Information Science. The University’s Tier II writing requirement for the Geographic Information Science major is met by completing Geography 425. That course is referenced in item 3. below.

2. The requirements of the College of Social Science for the Bachelor of Science degree.

3. The following required major courses with a minimum 2.0 grade-point average (40 to 44 credits):

   a. One of the following courses (3 or 4 credits):
      LB 118 Calculus I ........................................4

HUMAN GEOGRAPHY

The Bachelor of Arts degree in Human Geography provides comprehensive academic training in the human dimensions of the environment, particularly how people are affected by the environment, and how they alter and change it. Geographic knowledge is essential for understanding rapid social and environmental change in a globalized society. Human geographers describe, analyze, and explain the arrangement of the Earth’s...
cules. With training in both the natural and social sciences, human geographers have a wide range of career opportunities in public and private sectors. They find work in consulting, government, urban and regional planning, locational analysis, marketing, real estate, tourism, transportation, and teaching. Geographers are increasingly in demand for jobs that require expertise in geospatial techniques, such as geographic information systems (GIS), global positioning systems (GPS), remote sensing, and cartography.

Requirements for the Bachelor of Arts Degree in Human Geography

1. The University requirements for bachelor’s degrees as described in the Undergraduate Education section of this catalog; 120 credits, including general elective credits, are required for the Bachelor of Arts degree in Human Geography.

The University’s Tier II writing requirement for the Geography major is met by completing Geography 480. That course is referenced in item 3. a. below.

2. The requirements of the College of Social Science for the Bachelor of Arts degree.

3. The following courses with a minimum 2.0 grade-point average (34 to 35 credits):

   a. Both of the following courses (6 credits):
      GEO 113 Introduction to Economic Geography ..... 3
      GEO 151 Introduction to Human Geography ..... 3

   b. One of the following courses (3 or 4 credits):

MINOR IN ENVIRONMENT AND HEALTH

The Minor in Environment and Health, administered by the Department of Geography, Environment, and Health, enhances the education and training of students who are interested in issues relating to the environment and health, including students who wish to prepare themselves for advanced degree programs in environmental studies, health studies or careers in related fields.

The minor is available as an elective to students who are enrolled in bachelor’s degree programs at Michigan State University other than the Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science Degrees in Geography.

Students who plan to complete the requirements for the minor should consult an undergraduate advisor in the Department of Geography.

Requirements for the Minor in Environment and Health

Complete a minimum of 15 credits from the following:

1. The following course (3 credits):
   GEO 151 Introduction to Human Geography ..... 3

2. One of the following courses (3 or 4 credits):
   ANP 370 Culture, Health and Illness ..... 3
   EC 451 Economics of Health Care (W) ..... 3
   GEO 235 Geography of Environment and Health ..... 3

MINOR IN GEOGRAPHY

The Minor in Geography, which is administered by the Department of Geography, Environment, and Spatial Sciences, provides a fundamental foundation to the breadth of study within the field of geography as well as grounding in general geographic theory.

The minor is available as an elective to students who are enrolled in bachelor’s degree programs at Michigan State University other than the Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science Degrees in Geography. With the approval of the department and college that administers the student’s degree program, the courses that are used to satisfy the minor may also be used to satisfy the requirements for the bachelor’s degree.

Students who plan to complete the requirements for the minor should consult an undergraduate advisor in the Department of Geography.

Requirements for the Minor in Geography

Complete a minimum of 21 credits in the Department of Geography, Environment, and Spatial Sciences from the following:

1. A minimum of 9 credits from the following:
   GEO 151 Cultural Geography ..... 3
   GEO 203 Introduction to Meteorology ..... 3
   GEO 206 Physical Geography ..... 3
   GEO 206L Physical Geography Laboratory ..... 1
   GEO 221 Introduction to Geographic Information ..... 3
   GEO 221L Geographic Information Laboratory ..... 1

2. A minimum of 3 credits from the following:
   GEO 204 World Regional Geography ..... 3
   GEO 330 Geography of the United States and Canada ..... 3
   GEO 333 Geography of Michigan and the Great Lakes Region ..... 3
   GEO 335 Geography of Latin America ..... 3
   GEO 336 Geography of Europe ..... 3
   GEO 337 Geography of Asia-Pacific ..... 3
   GEO 338 Geography of Africa ..... 3
   GEO 339 Geography of the Middle East and North Africa ..... 3
   GEO 337 Geography of Asia-Pacific (I) ..... 3

3. Complete a minimum of 9 additional credits in Geography courses, of which 6 credits must be at the 400-level. The courses must be approved by the student’s academic advisor.

MINOR IN GEOGRAPHIC INFORMATION SCIENCE

The Minor in Geographic Information Science, which is administered by the Department of Geography, Environment, and Spatial Sciences provides a fundamental foundation to the breadth of study within the field of geographic information science.

The minor is available as an elective to students who are enrolled in bachelor’s degree programs at Michigan State University other than the Bachelor of Science Degree in Geographic Information Science. With the approval of the department and college that administers the student’s degree program, the courses that are used to satisfy the minor may also be used to satisfy the requirements for the bachelor’s degree.

Students who plan to complete the requirements for the minor should consult an undergraduate advisor in the Department of Geography, Environment, and Spatial Sciences.

Requirements for the Minor in Geographic Information Science

Complete a minimum of 15 credits from the following:

1. The following course (3 credits):
   GEO 113 Introduction to Economic Geography ..... 3
   GEO 151 Cultural Geography ..... 3
   GEO 203 Introduction to Meteorology ..... 3
   GEO 206 Physical Geography ..... 3
   GEO 206L Physical Geography Laboratory ..... 1
   GEO 221 Introduction to Geographic Information ..... 3
   GEO 221L Geographic Information Laboratory ..... 1

2. A minimum of 3 credits from the following:
   GEO 204 World Regional Geography ..... 3
   GEO 330 Geography of the United States and Canada ..... 3
   GEO 333 Geography of Michigan and the Great Lakes Region ..... 3
   GEO 335 Geography of Latin America ..... 3
   GEO 336 Geography of Europe ..... 3
   GEO 337 Geography of Asia-Pacific ..... 3
   GEO 338 Geography of Africa ..... 3
   GEO 339 Geography of the Middle East and North Africa ..... 3
   GEO 337 Geography of Asia-Pacific (I) ..... 3

3. Complete a minimum of 9 additional credits in Geography courses, of which 6 credits must be at the 400-level. The courses must be approved by the student’s academic advisor.
Complete a minimum of 21 credits in the Department of Geography, Environment, and Spatial Sciences from the following:

1. Both of the following courses (4 credits):
   - GEO 221 Introduction to Geographic Information
   - GEO 221L Introduction to Geographic Information Laboratory

2. One of the following courses (3 credits):
   - GEO 490 Independent Study
   - GEO 498 Internship in Geography

Both Geography 490 and 498 must have geographic information science, remote sensing, or cartography content to fulfill this requirement. Students should obtain advisor approval prior to enrolling in a section of either of these courses.

3. Complete a minimum of 14 credits from the following courses:
   - GEO 324 Remote Sensing of the Environment
   - GEO 325 Geographic Information Systems
   - GEO 336 Introduction to Quantitative Methods for Geographers
   - GEO 419 Application of Geographic Information Systems to Natural Resources Management
   - GEO 423 Cartographic Design and Production
   - GEO 424 Advanced Remote Sensing
   - GEO 425 Problems in Geographic Information Science (W)
   - GEO 426 Thematic Cartography
   - GEO 428 Digital Terrain Analysis
   - GEO 453 Metropolitan Environments: Urban Forms and Land Uses
   - Additional courses as approved by the student’s academic advisor.

TEACHER CERTIFICATION OPTIONS

A geography disciplinary minor is available for secondary teacher certification.

Students who elect the geography disciplinary minor must contact the Department of Geography, Environment, and Spatial Sciences to plan their programs of study.

For additional information, refer to the statement on TEACHER CERTIFICATION in the Department of Teacher Education section of this catalog.

GRADUATE STUDY

The Department of Geography, Environment, and Spatial Sciences offers programs in the discipline of geography leading to the Master of Science and Doctor of Philosophy degrees.

Students who are enrolled in master’s or doctoral degree programs in the Department of Geography, Environment, and Spatial Sciences may elect an Interdepartmental Specialization in Cognitive Science. For additional information, refer to the statement on Interdepartmental Graduate Specializations in Cognitive Science. For additional information, contact the Department of Geography, Environment, and Spatial Sciences.

GEOGRAPHY

Master of Science

The master’s program in geography is designed to enable the student to achieve professional competence in the discipline. This program is intended to increase substantive and technical proficiency.

In addition to meeting the requirements of the university and of the College of Social Science, students must meet the requirements specified below.

Admission

All students seeking the master’s degree in geography are expected to have completed courses in physical, human, and regional geography; in quantitative methods; and in geographic information science. Applicants who have not completed all of these requirements may be admitted provisionally, and must remedy all course deficiencies before the degree is granted. Any course work complete to correct course deficiencies may not be counted towards the requirements for the degree.

Requirements for the Master of Science Degree in Geography

The Master of Science in Geography is available only under Plan A (with thesis). The student must complete a total of 30 credits distributed as follows:

Doctor of Philosophy

The Ph.D. program in geography is designed to develop the student’s ability to conduct original research with special reference to:

1. understanding of scientific inquiry.
2. knowledge of the geographic discipline.
3. understanding of a specialized area of geography such as people/environment, physical geography, regional development, or economic–regional science.
4. proficiency with analytical and technical skills particularly with respect to spatial data analysis and manipulation.
5. skills in communicating the results of research.

Admission

Admission to the doctoral program is based upon an evaluation of the student’s academic records related to both the bachelor’s and master’s degrees, Graduate Record Examination (GRE) General Test scores, letters of recommendation, written statements, and other pertinent information such as professional experience and related achievements. Typical entrants to the doctoral program present a grade–point average of 3.60 or higher in a recognized master’s degree program, which usually includes a thesis, and satisfactory scores on the GRE.

DEPARTMENT of HISTORY

Walter Hawthorne, Chairperson

The Department of History offers courses which deal with human societies in all geographical regions and time—periods. Courses in African, Asian, Latin American, European, and North American history focus on issues of race, ethnicity, politics, military affairs, sexuality, and gender while providing insight into the human condition as a whole.

All courses in history have the goal of helping students learn how to think and write historically in a critical manner. History courses emphasize learning how to identify viewpoints, gather and organize information, present conclusions in essays and on the internet, distinguish facts from interpretations, recognize historical relationships and patterns, and appreciate the relevance of historical insight to the understanding of current events and problems.

By involving all students in the process of careful analysis of evidence and thoughtful, cogent expression of ideas, the department seeks to equip students with intellectual skills which have multiple uses in the larger society outside the university. Its programs, in addition to providing a liberal education, are designed to serve as professional preparation in various fields, including teaching; the law; federal, state, and local government; work in historical societies and museums; Web site development and research.

UNDERGRADUATE PROGRAMS

The department offers a Bachelor of Arts degree in History, a Bachelor of Arts degree in Global History, and a Bachelor of Arts degree in History Education for student’s pursuing teacher certification. Students interested in teacher certification should contact the student affairs advisor in the College of Education. A Minor in Defense Studies and Leadership is also available.

GLOBAL HISTORY

Requirements for the Bachelor of Arts Degree in Global History

1. The University requirements for bachelor’s degrees as described in the Undergraduate Education section of the catalog; 120 credits, including general elective credits, are required for the Bachelor of Arts degree in Global History.

The University’s Tier II writing requirement for the Global History major is met by completing one of the following courses: History 481, 482, 483, 484, 485, 486, 487, 488, or 489. Those courses are referenced in item 3. below.

2. The requirements of the College of Social Science for the Bachelor of Arts degree.

3. The following requirements for the major:

   a. The following course (3 credits):
      HST 201 Historical Methods and Skills .......................... 3

   b. Two of the following courses (8 credits):
      HST 140 World History to 1500 ................................. 4

   483, 484, 485, 486, 487, or 488. The course must be related to the area of historical concentration chosen in item c. above. Completion of this requirement satisfies both the department’s Tier II writing and capstone requirement.

   f. Completion of one experiential learning course, a history study abroad or study away course, an internship with a historical focus (HST 493), or an additional senior seminar course focused on any area of the world or topic not used in fulfillment of requirement e. above. The course must be approved by the student’s academic advisor. (3 credits)

   g. Completion of an area studies minor appropriate to the geographical area of concentration referenced in requirement e. above. History courses taken in the minor may also be used to fulfill requirements in the major.

   h. Second-year competency in a foreign language related to the geographical area of concentration reference in item c. above. This requirement may be satisfied by placing into a 300-level foreign language course based on a Michigan State University placement test.

MINOR IN DEFENSE STUDIES AND LEADERSHIP

The Minor in Defense Studies and Leadership, which is administered by the Department of History, provides students with a broad perspective on the military with analysis of all service branches of the Armed Forces from a historical and social scientific perspective. It also prepares current cadets for active duty service.

The minor is available as an elective to students who are enrolled in bachelor's degree programs at Michigan State University. With the approval of the department and college that administers the student's degree program, the courses that are used to satisfy the minor may also be used to satisfy the requirements for the bachelor's degree.

Students who plan to complete the requirements for the minor should consult an undergraduate advisor in the Department of History.

MINOR IN THE CITY: ENVIRONMENT, DESIGN, AND SOCIETY

The Minor in The City: Environment, Design, and Society, administered by the Department of History, is designed to assist students in understanding the social and environmental context of cities in the modern world in order to apply their learning in careers in various social science fields.

The minor is available as an elective to students who are enrolled in bachelor's degree programs in the College of Social Science. With the approval of the department and college that admit the student’s degree program, the courses that are used to satisfy the minor may also be used to satisfy the requirements for the bachelor’s degree.

Students who plan to complete the requirements of the minor should consult their major undergraduate advisor in the College of Social Science.

Requirements for the Minor in The City: Environment, Design, and Society

Complete a minimum of 15 credits from the following:

1. The following course (3 credits):
   - UP 100 The City

2. One of the following courses (3 credits):
   - ANP 426 Urban Anthropology
   - GEO 413 Urban Geography
   - GEO 418 The Ghetto

TEACHER CERTIFICATION OPTIONS

The history education disciplinary major leading to the Bachelor of Arts degree is available for secondary teacher certification. A history disciplinary minor is also available for teacher certification.

Students who elect the history education disciplinary major or the history disciplinary minor must contact the Department of History.

For additional information, refer to the statement on TEACHER CERTIFICATION in the Department of Teacher Education section of this catalog.

GRADUATE STUDY

Graduate programs in the Department of History are designed primarily for students whose career goals require a doctoral degree. The department welcomes applicants who are prepared to pursue a rigorous program of graduate study.

HISTORY

Master of Arts

The Master of Arts degree program in history is designed for students who desire a general course of advanced study in the field.

Admission

Admission to graduate study in the Department of History is primarily to the doctoral program. However, under certain circumstances, the department will consider applications for admission to the Master of Arts in History from students who wish to earn a master’s degree in preparation for the doctoral degree. Please consult with the Departmental Graduate Studies Director if you wish to apply for the Master of Arts in History.

To be considered for admission to the Master of Arts degree program in history, an applicant must:

1. Have the results of the Graduate Record Examination (GRE) General Test and the results of the GRE Subject Test in History forwarded to the department.
2. Submit to the department a term paper that the applicant considers to be a fair representation of his or her ability in research and writing.
3. Include in the letter required by the college a 500–1000 word statement that addresses the applicant’s goals in pursuing a Master of Arts degree program in history.

To be admitted to the program on regular status, an applicant must have:

1. A baccalaureate degree in history or in another field.
2. A grade-point average of at least 3.50 for the last two years of undergraduate study.
3. Completed a minimum of 20 semester credits in history courses with a grade-point average of at least 3.50.
4. Scores in at least the upper one-quarter on the verbal section of the GRE General Test and on the GRE Subject Test in History.

In addition, an international applicant is required to have fulfilled the university’s English language proficiency requirement as described in the Graduate Education section of this catalog in one of the following three ways:

1. Have a total score of 580 (paper version) or 237 (computer version) or above on the Test of English as a Foreign Language with no sub-score below 55 (paper version) or 21 (computer version) and have the approval of the English Language Center.
2. Have an average score of 85 or higher on the Michigan English Language Assessment Battery with no sub-score below 83 and have the approval of the English Language Center.
3. Have an average score of 85 or higher on the English Language Center Test with no sub-score below 83 and have the approval of the English Language Center.

Guidance Committee

Before completing 8 credits in history courses, the student, with the assistance of the Graduate Director, must constitute a guidance committee of at least two faculty members in the Department of History who represent different fields of history. Until the student’s guidance committee has been established, the student’s program of study must be approved by the Graduate Director.

Requirements for the Master of Arts Degree in History

The program is available under both Plan A (with thesis) and Plan B (without thesis). A total of 30 credits is required for the degree under either Plan A or Plan B. The student’s program of study must be approved by the student’s guidance committee. The student must meet the requirements specified below:

Requirements for Both Plan A and Plan B

1. Complete HST 803 Seminar in Methodology of Historical Research (3 credits).
2. Complete at least 15 credits in 800-900 level history courses including one 3 credit course in historiography relevant to the student’s program of study.
3. Demonstrate the ability to read historical literature in one foreign language. Credits in courses in foreign language may not be counted toward the requirements for the Master of Arts or Doctor of Philosophy in History degree programs.

Additional Requirements for Plan A
1. Complete 6 credits of HST 899 Master’s Thesis Research.
2. Pass a final oral examination that covers the student’s program of study and thesis.

Additional Requirements for Plan B
1. Pass a certifying examination, consisting of three parts, one testing the major area and two tests in each of the student’s minor areas.

Academic Standards
A student who does not demonstrate a reading knowledge of a foreign language during the first year of enrollment in the program will not be permitted to enroll in any courses with the exception of courses in a foreign language, until that requirement has been satisfied.

GRADUATE CERTIFICATE IN AMERICAN STUDIES
The Graduate Certificate in American Studies, which is administered by the Department of History, is designed for students who wish to study the culture, history, and civilization of the United States from an inter- and multidisciplinary perspective. Students may pursue the program to complement disciplinary master’s or doctoral degree programs such as English, History, Anthropology, African American and African Studies, Chicano/Latino Studies, Philosophy, Religious Studies, Theatre, Music, or History of Art. Students who are enrolled in the program explore the techniques, materials, and perspectives of American studies, American history, and American literature, as well as other related disciplines or thematic units.

The certificate is available as an elective to students who are enrolled in master’s and doctoral programs at Michigan State University. Students must meet the requirements of the certificate specified below, in addition to the requirements for the student’s primary degree program.

The student’s program of study must be approved the Graduate Chairperson in the Department of History.

Requirements for the Graduate Certificate in American Studies
Students must complete a minimum of 12 credits, of which 6 credits must come from units other than the student’s primary degree program. Students pursuing a dual degree, 6 credits must come from units other than the student’s two degree programs.

A list of approved courses is available in the Department of History. Courses, if appropriate, may be used from other departments with approval of the Graduate Chairperson.

Doctor of Philosophy
The program leading to the doctoral degree with a major in history is designed to provide wide knowledge in several fields of history, specialized competence in a limited area, and research techniques that will prepare the student for a career in teaching, research, government service, private industry, and other areas of professional historical activity.

The following fields of study are available to doctoral students in the department:
- Ancient history
- Medieval history
- Early modern European history
- Modern Western European history
- Russian history
- East European history
- American history
- African–American history
- History of the Atlantic world
- Latin American and Caribbean history
- Comparative Black history
- African history
- Asian history

The history of women and gender relations

The department recognizes the high importance of developing among its doctoral candidates a proficiency in college teaching. To the limit of its resources, it undertakes to provide experience in teaching in the form of graduate assistantships, along with organized discussions of the ends and means of the teaching career.

In addition to meeting the requirements of the university and of the College of Social Science, students must meet the requirements specified below.

Admission
Students are admitted to the program for fall semester only. The department must receive all application materials by January 1. Decisions on admission are announced on or shortly after March 31. In making admissions decisions, the department considers the competencies of the faculty and the needs of students and the profession.

To be considered for admission to the Doctor of Philosophy degree program in history, an applicant must:
1. Have the results of the Graduate Record Examination (GRE) General Test and the Subject Test in History forwarded to the department.
2. Submit a term paper to the department that the applicant considers to be a fair representation of his or her ability in research and writing.
3. Include in a letter required by the college a 500-1000 word statement that addresses the applicant’s goals in pursuing a Doctor of Philosophy degree in history.
4. Have at least three individuals, preferably scholars with whom the applicant has had course work or other professional contact, submit letters of recommendation to the department.

To be admitted to the program with regular status, an applicant must demonstrate the appropriate reading and/or speaking knowledge in one foreign language relevant to the student’s doctoral study. Applicants without a master’s degree or 30 credits of approved course work, including History 803 or its equivalent; significant course work in historiography and content in the major field; and two minor areas of concentration; will be admitted provisionally. The graduate director and/or advisor will advise students regarding the removal of deficiencies and the completion of a specified number of collateral courses before regular admission to the Ph.D. in History is granted. Applicants completing these pre-Ph.D. courses will acquire a graduate academic record equivalent to the course requirements of the Master of Arts in History.

In addition, an international applicant is required to have fulfilled the university’s English language proficiency requirement as described in the Graduate Education section of this catalog in one of the following three ways:
1. Have a total score of 580 (paper version) or 237 (computer version) or above on the Test of English as a Foreign Language with no subscore below 55 (paper version) or 21 (computer version) and have the approval of the English Language Center.
2. Have an average score of 85 or higher on the Michigan English Language Assessment Battery with no subscore below 83 and have the approval of the English Language Center.
3. Have an average score of 85 or higher on the English Language Center Test with no subscore below 83 and have the approval of the English Language Center.

Applicants for doctoral study should understand that the department can offer no assurance that all of the areas of professional specialization will be available to students at any particular time. It is essential that persons with specific, clearly defined academic interests communicate with the Graduate Director before making firm plans to enroll in the doctoral program.

Guidance Committee
Students entering the doctoral program will be guided by the graduate director in the selection of courses for the first year. By the end of the second semester, students should choose their major professor and their guidance committee. The committee shall consist of at least four members: two represent the student’s major field, one of whom shall chair the student’s guidance committee and direct the dissertation. In addition, two faculty members, one from each of the student’s chosen two minor fields, will serve on the committee.

Requirements for the Doctor of Philosophy Degree in History
The student must:
1. Complete at least 3 credits in the historiography courses specified by the graduate advisor or guidance committee.
2. Complete at least 9 credits in additional 800-900 level courses in a major field of history as specified by the student’s guidance committee. The major field should be the field in which the student plans to focus research for the dissertation. The available major fields of history are referenced above.
3. Complete at least 6 credits in each of the student’s two minor fields or in one minor field of history and in one minor field in a related discipline.
4. Student must demonstrate knowledge of a second foreign language before they may take the comprehensive examinations. This requirement for students formally admitted to the Ph.D. program can be fulfilled by one of these three options:
   a. Competency in an additional (second) foreign language.
   b. With approval of the student’s guidance committee, the student may substitute certification in humanities computing for the second foreign language.
   c. With the approval of the student’s guidance committee, the student must complete courses in a supporting discipline such as statistics, philosophy, economics, or anthropology in lieu of demonstrating knowledge of a second foreign language. The supporting discipline shall constitute the student’s third minor field. A faculty member in the supporting discipline shall be added as a fifth member of the student’s guidance committee.
5. Pass the following comprehensive examinations:
   a. A 3-4 hour written examination in the student’s major field and a 3-4 hour written examination in each of the student’s minor fields. This requirement must be satisfied during one semester of enrollment in the program and should be completed during the fifth semester.
   b. An oral examination of up to three hours. This requirement must be satisfied after the student has passed the written examinations.
   c. Pass a final oral examination in defense of the dissertation.

Academic Standards
A student who does not demonstrate a reading knowledge of a foreign language during the first year of enrollment in the program will not be permitted to enroll in any courses, with the exception of courses in a foreign language, until that requirement has been satisfied.

DEPARTMENT of HUMAN DEVELOPMENT and FAMILY STUDIES

Amy Bonomi, Chairperson

The Department of Human Development and Family Studies is committed to improving the health and well-being of individuals and families across the lifespan through research and preparation of graduates for research, teaching, and professional practice. Recognizing, understanding and addressing the central role of diversity and interdependence among families and communities in the process of human development are core values of the department.

Areas of study include child development, youth development, lifespan human development, family diversity and couple and family therapy. Knowledge of basic research and the application of research to improving the lives of individuals in the context of the family, the community, and policy are emphasized. Practical experiences in real-world settings are incorporated into all areas of study. The Child Development Laboratory and the Couple and Family Therapy Clinic are part of the department.

At the undergraduate level, the focus is on the application of knowledge about individual development and family processes to early childhood education, child and youth services in the community, and services for adults. At the graduate level, this focus is widened to include courses and research experiences with the goal of improving the training of early childhood teachers, preparing professionals who will serve youth in a variety of contexts, and training therapists who provide services to families, couples, and individuals. The department graduate programs also prepare scholars who study child development in the context of family processes, diverse families and family problems, and the process and outcome of therapeutic interventions.

UNDERGRADUATE PROGRAMS

CHILD DEVELOPMENT

Bachelor of Arts

The Bachelor of Arts in Child Development degree program combines a basic education in child development and family studies with a broad general education and preparation related to em-employment in early childhood education settings. Students will choose either a concentration in Elementary Education Teacher Certification, which requires admission to the teacher preparation program, or a concentration in Preschool Teaching in an Early Childhood Setting.

Elementary Education Teacher Certification course work prepares graduates to work in the early grades of primary schools, kindergarten through third grade and to meet the requirements to earn an Elementary Education Teaching Certificate (kindergarten through fifth grade) with an Early Childhood General and Special Education Endorsement.

The Preschool Teaching in an Early Childhood Setting concentration prepares graduates to work in early childhood settings such as Head Start and preschools and in other child-related fields such as policy, health care, or administration. Students in the Preschool Teaching in an Early Childhood Setting concentration will be required to complete an independent study experience such as study abroad, study away, experiential learning, internship, or undergraduate research. The child development major is appropriate for students interested in working with young children, birth through age eight.

Requirements for the Bachelor of Arts Degree in Child Development

1. The University requirements for bachelor’s degrees as described in the Undergraduate Education section of this catalog. 120 credits, including general elective credits, are required for the Bachelor of Arts degree in Child Development. EARLY CARE AND EDUCATION

The Bachelor of Arts in Early Care and Education, is a collaborative, multi-institutional limited enrollment program. This degree focuses on the intellectual, social, emotional, and biological development of children. It includes planning and design of related human services and care/educational settings and preparation related to employment in early childhood education settings. The program provides instruction in parent-child relations, parenting practices, special needs of children, parental and environmental influences on child development, caregiver-child interactions, external support services, and related public policy issues. Designed for active duty military, spouses, retired and Department of Defense employees, rural head start teachers and off-campus students, the program provides flexibility for working professionals who need to maintain employment while advancing their educational opportunity.

The College of Social Science, in collaboration with The Great Plains Interactive Distance Education Alliance (GP IDEA), offers this program by faculty from multiple land-grant universities: Michigan State University, Iowa State University, University of Missouri, University of Nebraska, Oklahoma State University, South Dakota State University, and Texas Tech University.

Students will earn this degree from their home institution while also enrolling for courses at other participating institutions. In addition to meeting the requirements of the University and of the College of Social Science, students must meet the requirements specified below.

Admission

To be admitted, students must apply via their home institution and plan their course of study under the guidance of their academic advisor. Michigan State University students follow established University admission procedures to the College of Social Science and the Early Care and Education major. Students must have a minimum of 30 credits applicable to the graduation requirements of the admitting institution with an earned minimum grade-point average of 2.5.

Michigan State University students should contact the Department of Human Development and Family Studies for guidance on the completion of this program.

TEACHER CERTIFICATION OPTIONS

The child development disciplinary major leading to the Bachelor of Arts degree is available for teacher certification.

A early childhood-general and special education disciplinary minor is available for students pursuing elementary teacher certification.

Students who elect the child development disciplinary major or the early childhood-general and special education disciplinary minor must contact the Department of Human Development and Family Studies.

For additional information, refer to the statement on TEACHER CERTIFICATION in the Department of Teacher Education section of this catalog.

GRADUATE STUDY

The Department of Human Development and Family Studies is concerned with human development and with the interaction of individuals and family members throughout the life cycle as they interact with their environment. The department offers the following degree programs:

Graduate Certificate
   Youth Development Specialist
   Youth Program Management and Evaluation

Master of Arts
   Family Community Services
   Youth Development

Master of Science
   Child Development
   Human Development and Family Studies

Doctor of Philosophy
   Human Development and Family Studies

All graduate programs in the department are designed to develop professional competence, to encourage creative thinking, and to prepare students to perform and utilize research. Each student's program is developed within the framework of the area of major interest, taking into consideration his or her professional experience, interests, and educational and career goals.

Careers to which advanced degrees may lead include college teaching, research, extension, marriage and family therapy, and administration in early childhood education centers. Graduates also may be employed as family specialists in community and family agencies.

Opportunities are available within the Department of Human Development and Family Studies for graduate students to participate in ongoing interdisciplinary research and in field experiences in school or community settings. The Child Development Laboratories and the Couple and Family Therapy Clinic provide opportunities for applied and research experiences.

Students who are enrolled in Master of Arts, Master of Science, and Doctor of Philosophy degree programs in the Department of Human Development and Family Studies may elect specializations in Infancy and Early Childhood. For additional information, refer to the statement on Interdepartmental Graduate Specializations in Infancy and Early Childhood in the College of Social Science section of this catalog.

Master of Arts and Master of Science

In addition to meeting the requirements of the university and of the College of Social Science, students must meet the requirements specified below.

Students with limited undergraduate backgrounds may be required to correct such deficiencies by completing courses which serve as prerequisites to graduate work.

Master of Science Degree in Child Development

This program focuses on the behavioral, psychological, biological and contextual processes that promote positive developmental outcomes in infants and young children. Key contexts of development emphasized in the program include family, early childhood educational settings, and culture. Courses are available in areas such as development across cultures, infant development, language and literacy research and practices, social-emotional development, observational methods for home or classroom, approaches to early education, intervention and prevention programs, and parenting. Laboratory experiences in early childhood education are available in the Child Development Laboratories, and research experiences are available through work with faculty mentors.

Master of Arts Degree in Family Community Services

The Master of Arts in Family Community Services, is a collaborative, multi-institutional program offered totally online. This degree is designed to provide a research-based perspective to understanding individual, family, interpersonal and community dynamics across the lifespan. Students will acquire knowledge and skills related to the design, implementation, sustainability, and leadership and management of family and community services programs.

The College of Social Science, in collaboration with The Great Plains Interactive Distance Education Alliance (GPIDEA), offers this program with all course work delivered via the Internet/World Wide Web by faculty from multiple land-grant universities: Michigan State University, Kansas State University, University of Missouri, University of Nebraska-Lincoln, Oklahoma State University, and South Dakota State University.

Students will earn this degree from their home institution while also enrolling for courses at other participating institutions.

Admission

To be admitted, students must apply via their home institution and plan their course of study under the guidance of their academic advisor. Michigan State University students follow established University admission procedures.

Requirements for the Master of Arts Degree in Family Community Services

The program is available only online and only under Plan B (without thesis). Each student's course of study must be developed and approved in consultation with the academic advisor. The student must complete a total of 36 credits, of which 30 credits is course work required by The Great Plains Interactive Distance Education Alliance (GPIDEA) consortium, distributed as follows:

Admission
Admission to the doctoral program in human development and family studies is based on evidence of academic ability, research potential, achievement, and maturity. Admission to the program assumes a background in the behavioral sciences; collateral course work that does not count toward the doctoral degree may be required where background is inadequate. A prospective doctoral student is required to take the general sections of the Graduate Record Examination and include the results with the application.

To be admitted to the doctoral program in human development and family studies with couple and family therapy as the area of concentration, an applicant must have completed a master’s degree program with a major in marriage and family therapy or its equivalent. Students who select the couple and family therapy concentration must participate in a personal interview with a selected faculty committee. Students who select the couple and family therapy concentration are admitted to the degree program in fall semester only.

Requirements for the Degree
Students in the doctoral program in human development and family studies who select the couple and family therapy concentration are required to complete a supervised clinical internship. The Couple and Family Therapy Program at Michigan State University has been accredited by the Commission on Accreditation for Marriage and Family Therapy Education of the American Association for Marriage and Family Therapy. The re-accreditation period is effective through January 2013.

The inclusion of a foreign language in the doctoral program is at the discretion of the candidate and the guidance committee.
Graduate Certificate in Youth Program Management and Evaluation

The Youth Program Management and Evaluation Graduate Certificate is designed to assist youth professionals to develop and apply resources for successful implementation and management of youth-serving organizations. The program addresses the need for advanced education based on research and policy for optimal youth outcomes through a strengths-based curriculum.

The online format and course schedule of the certificate program allow flexibility to accommodate both full-time students and working professionals. The College of Social Science, in collaboration with The Great Plains Interactive Distance Education Alliance (GPIDEA), offers this program with all course work delivered via the World Wide Web at www.gpidea.org.

Admission

To be considered for admission into the Youth Program Management and Evaluation Graduate Certificate applicants must follow established University admission procedures. Students currently pursuing the Master of Arts in Youth Development are not eligible to apply for admission to the Youth Program Management and Evaluation Graduate Certificate. For additional information, refer to the Admission section in the Graduate Education section of this catalog.

Research and Program Services

RESEARCH PROGRAM. The general focus of faculty research and scholarship covers a wide breadth of human resource and labor and employment relations issues. Spanning local to global inquiries, analyses range from micro-level individual and organizational analyses to macro-level organizational and policy analyses. These inquiries and analyses take into account the broader environmental contexts of organizations, multiple stakeholders and actors, and multi-level behaviors and decision-making. As a multidisciplinary field of study, faculty research draws on various theoretical foundations of other disciplines such as economics, psychology, sociology, political science, and law and employs the full range of scientific methodologies, statistical methods, and research designs.

HUMAN RESOURCES EXECUTIVE EDUCATION AND DEVELOPMENT. The school offers non-credit programs focusing on strategy, content expertise, and leadership — with the purpose of effectively aligning human resource policies and practices with business and operational plans to yield competitive advantage. Open enrollment programs provide training and leadership development in human resource management, contemporary collective bargaining and negotiation, and workers compensation. The school also offers customized curriculum tailored to meet the specific needs of organizations, as well as executive coaching designed to meet the personal development interests of individuals.

LABOR EDUCATION AND DEVELOPMENT. The school offers non-credit programming aimed at improving the employment opportunities and work lives of the citizens of Michigan. This programming includes union leader training and development, joint union-management training in high performance work systems, and economic development focusing on local business and community solutions. The school also provides consultation on union and organizational strategies, as well as facilitation for contract negotiations and joint union-management decision-making.

GRADUATE STUDY

HUMAN RESOURCES and LABOR RELATIONS

The Master of Human Resources and Labor Relations is the school’s signature graduate degree, offered on a full-time basis in East Lansing, Michigan. With a diverse and highly qualified student body, the master’s program is universally regarded as one of the premier professional programs of its kind in the world. Preparing future leaders for professional careers, students receive a comprehensive, contemporary foundation in human resources and labor relations, gain a broad global perspective, and learn to... apply best practices, lead organizational change, and act strategically as business leaders.

The curriculum offers a wide range of courses across required core knowledge areas including: human resource management, labor-management relations, organizational change, business acumen, international human resources and employment relations, workplace law, economics of human resources, and quantitative methods for human resource analyses.

In addition to classroom instruction, nearly all students participate in paid summer internships with companies between their first and second year in the program. Through these summer internships, students receive invaluable mentoring and on-the-job learning, working as members of specific project teams and undertaking individual assignments.

In addition to meeting the requirements of the university and of the College of Social Science, students must meet the requirements specified below.

Admission

To be considered for admission to the master's degree program, a student must have a bachelor's degree and a cumulative grade-point average of 3.00 or higher in the junior and senior years. Applicants must have satisfactory scores on the Graduate Record Examination (GRE) General Test or on the Graduate Management Admission Test (GMAT). Applicants with five or more years of relevant work experience with successful professional records may be able to substitute that work experience for GRE or GMAT test scores. Applicants must complete one course in microeconomic principles, one course in statistics, and one course in behavioral sciences with a minimum grade of 3.0 in each course. In addition, applicants will be judged on the quality of their statement of objectives and three letters of reference.

Requirements for the Master of Human Resources and Labor Relations Degree in Human Resources and Labor Relations

The program is available under both Plan A (with thesis) and Plan B (without thesis). The student must complete 36 credits with a grade-point average of at least 3.00.

2. Complete three doctoral level research methods courses within other departments approved by the student’s doctoral committee.

3. Complete four doctoral level courses in other departments approved by the student’s doctoral committee.

SCHOOL of PLANNING, DESIGN and CONSTRUCTION

Scott G. Witter, Director

The School of Planning, Design and Construction uniquely unites four built environment disciplines to foster synergistic learning and collaboration: construction management, interior design, landscape architecture and urban and regional planning. The academic programs are accredited and produce career-ready graduates. Students work on real-world, cross-discipline projects and activities. The faculty cross-collaborate on pressing built environment issues, delivering timely and crucial sustainable research and outreach.
is administered jointly by the College of Agriculture and Natural Resources and the College of Social Science.

UNDERGRADUATE PROGRAMS
The school offers a Bachelor of Science degree program in urban and regional planning through the College of Social Science.
The school also offers Bachelor of Science degree programs in construction management, and interior design and a Bachelor of Landscape Architecture degree program through the College of Agriculture and Natural Resources. The school also offers a dual degree in the Bachelor of Landscape Architecture and Master of Arts in Environmental Design. For information about those programs, refer to the statement on the School of Planning, Design and Construction in the College of Agriculture and Natural Resources section of this catalog.

URBAN AND REGIONAL PLANNING
The undergraduate program in urban and regional planning provides students with a basic understanding of the history of urbanism, the theory and principles of urban design, and the relevant legal and administrative procedures. Students study the techniques of survey and research used in the analysis of the structure and growth of urban areas. They are involved in written and graphic communication. They recognize the contributions made by other disciplines concerned with the study of urban development. By developing systematic programs for the orderly and unified arrangement of urban physical structures, students focus their accumulated knowledge and skills on specific urban problems. The undergraduate program, which has been accredited by the Planning Accreditation Board, is designed to prepare majors with the planning Accreditation Board, is designed to prepare majors with their accumulated knowledge and skills on specific urban problems. The undergraduate program, which has been accredited by the Planning Accreditation Board, is designed to prepare majors for careers in planning practice.

Admission as a Junior
The number of students who can be admitted as juniors to the urban and regional planning major is limited. Applications are accepted and reviewed only during the spring semester of each year.
To be considered for admission as a junior, a student must have:
1. submitted a completed application form by the deadline specified by the school.
2. completed Urban Planning 201 with a minimum grade of 2.0, which is a prerequisite for the 300–400 level courses required for the bachelor's degree.
3. completed the following prerequisites (13 credits) with a minimum grade of 2.0 in each course:
   - CSE 101 Computing Concepts and Competencies ........ 3
   - EC 201 Introduction to Microeconomics ................. 3
   - PLS 100 Introduction to American National Government .... 3
   - STT 201 Statistical Methods .................................. 4
The completion of Statistics and Probability 201 may also be used to satisfy the University mathematics requirement.

Admission decisions are determined by the faculty on the basis of the relative qualifications of applicants and the enrollment capacity in the program. Admission is competitive. Factors related to the program’s accreditation may also be considered in the selection process.
A student who has been admitted to the urban and regional planning major for a given semester, and decides not to enroll for that semester, would need to reapply for admission to the program. There is no guarantee of admission to the program.
All persons who are interested in applying for admission as juniors to the urban and regional planning major must request an application form and detailed information regarding admission requirements and procedures from the School of Planning, Design and Construction, Room 101 Human Ecology.
Students who are enrolled in colleges and universities other than Michigan State University should contact Michigan State University’s Office of Admissions and the School of Planning, Design and Construction regarding admission to the Bachelor of Science degree program in Urban and Regional Planning as transfer students.

Requirements for the Bachelor of Science Degree in Urban and Regional Planning
1. The University requirements for bachelor’s degrees as described in the Undergraduate Education section of this catalog; 120 credits, including general elective credits, are required for the Bachelor of Science degree in Urban and Regional Planning.
The University’s Tier II writing requirement for the Urban and Regional Planning major is met by completing Urban Planning 365. That course is referenced in item 3, a, below.

GRADUATE STUDY
The School of Planning, Design and Construction is administered jointly by the College of Agriculture and Natural Resources and the College of Social Science. The school offers a Master of Urban and Regional Planning degree program with a major in urban and regional planning, and a Master of International Planning Studies degree program with a major in international planning studies through the College of Social Science. Those programs are described below. The school also offers a Master of Arts degree program in Environmental Design; a Master of Science degree program in Construction Management, and a Doctor of Philosophy degree program in Planning, Design and Construction through the College of Agriculture and Natural Resources. For information about those programs, refer to the statement on the School of Planning, Design and Construction in the College of Agriculture and Natural Resources section of this catalog.

INTERNATIONAL PLANNING STUDIES
The Master of International Planning Studies (MIPS) is a one-year (2 semesters and one summer) program that is designed for practitioners currently employed in urban and regional planning or related fields who desire additional knowledge in the field of community and regional development. Prospective students must have direct experience in the international aspects of planning or related fields that directly relate to their proposed area of concentration.
Admission
Applications for admission must hold an advanced degree or have significant experience in international planning, and seek knowledge about urban and regional conditions and related areas such as real estate, economic development, environmental protection and international planning. Applicants must demonstrate that the degree will strengthen their career credentials and make them more competitive in the applicant's chosen international planning profession. Prospective students are assumed to have a basic knowledge of planning concepts.

Requirements for the Master of International Planning Studies Degree
The program is available under Plan B (without thesis) only. The student must complete at least 30 credits as specified below.

Master in Urban and Regional Planning
The graduate program leading to a degree of Master in Urban and Regional Planning (MURP) is committed to preparing students for professional planning careers in both the private and public sectors and seeks to develop both general planning knowledge and specific skills for practice. Current faculty research and teaching expertise covers a wide range of planning subjects including urban design; land use planning; land use law; housing; community, economic and real estate development; research methods; international development; transportation; environmental planning; and public policy. The MURP degree is a nationally accredited degree and admits students with a variety of academic backgrounds. Ideal students are those with strong intellectual ability; good written and verbal communication skills; basic statistical methods and have demonstrated a proven potential for leadership in the field of urban and regional planning.

A student entering the graduate program in urban and regional planning is expected to concentrate, under faculty guidance, on studies that provide an optimum learning experience in applying the various principles, theories, techniques, and design skills of planning to specific field problems. Unlike undergraduates, whose studies are divided between liberal education and technical studies, the graduate student is immersed in significant planning studies and research. The graduate program is designed to provide professional competence. After graduation, the student should be capable of assuming responsibilities on an intermediate level of a professional planning operation. The master's program in Urban and Regional Planning has been accredited by the American Planning Association.

Admission
To be admitted to the master's degree program, the applicant must have a bachelor's degree from a recognized institution; a cumulative undergraduate grade-point average of 3.0; a grade-point average below 3.0 may be supplemented with a Graduate Record Examination (GRE) score of 1000 in verbal and quantitative, and an analytical writing score of 3.5. Students who are required to take the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) must submit scores.

Requirements for the Master in Urban and Regional Planning Degree with a Major in Urban and Regional Planning
The program is available under both Plan A (with thesis) and Plan B (without thesis). The student must complete at least 43 credits, at least 24 of which must be in courses numbered in the 800 and 900 series, and meet the requirements specified below.

Academic Standards
Academic standards for graduation require that each student maintain an average of 3.00, or better, in all course work, including study undertaken in collateral courses; however, the accumulation of grades below 3.0 in more than two courses of 3 or more credits each removes the student from the degree program.

Transfer Credits
A maximum of 10 transfer credits at the 400 or 800-level may be accepted toward the Master in Urban and Regional Planning degree.

For Law College students who have been admitted to the dual J.D.-Master in Urban and Regional Planning program with Michigan State University - College of Law, a maximum of 9 credits from Michigan State University - College of Law may be transferred to the Master in Urban and Regional Planning program with a major in urban and regional planning. A grade of 2.0 in a Law course will transfer to MSU as a passing grade. Students will be assessed at the Law College tuition rate with a graduate assistantship covering only the MSU cost of in-state tuition. Transfer courses must be approved by the Director of the Urban and Regional Planning program. Credits taken prior to admission at Michigan State University – College of Law will not be accepted for transfer.

Time Limit
The time limit for completing the degree is six years from the first semester of enrollment in the program.

DEPARTMENT of POLITICAL SCIENCE

Charles Ostrom, Chairperson

As a science, political science is concerned with theories, research methods, and facts as they relate to understanding political processes and phenomena. In particular, political science studies the distribution of power in groups, parties, institutions, governments, and international organizations. As a field of study, political science asks who has power, how did they get it, and why the exercise of power benefits some more than others. On both the American and international stages, political science prepares students to confront vital issues, raise critical perspectives, and explore new methodologies in the study of the fundamental concepts of power and change.

UNDERGRADUATE PROGRAMS

The undergraduate majors in political science are designed to provide students with a broad education in political and other social sciences with the analytical skills essential in many professions. The wide range of career opportunities open to political science graduates includes administrative positions in local, state, and federal government, or in public and private agencies; work with citizen’s action groups and voluntary organizations; employment in the foreign service and various governmental and private international agencies; and careers as teachers and policy analysts. Because additional training beyond the bachelor’s degree is necessary for some careers, many students in political science plan to attend law or graduate school. Qualified undergraduate political science majors who want to pursue professional careers in policy analysis, program management or policy advocacy, can complete both their bachelor’s and master’s degrees in a total of five years through the Linked Bachelor’s-Master’s Degree in Public Policy.

Students in the Department of Political Science may select one of the following majors:
1. Political Science (General)
2. Political Science—Prelaw
3. Public Policy
4. World Politics

POLITICAL SCIENCE (GENERAL)

Requirements for the Bachelor of Arts Degree in Political Science (General)

1. The University requirements for bachelor’s degrees as described in the Undergraduate Education section of this catalog: 120 credits, including general elective credits, are required for the Bachelor of Arts degree in Political Science (General). The University’s Tier II writing requirement for the Political Science (General) major is met by completing one of the following courses: Political Science 421 or 422. Those courses are referenced in item 3. a. (4) below.
2. The requirements of the College of Social Science for the Bachelor of Arts degree.

3. The following requirements for the major:

   a. The following courses in the Department of Political Science:

   (1) Two of the following courses (6 credits):
   - PLS 100 Introduction to American Politics
   - PLS 140 Introduction to Comparative Politics
   - PLS 160 Introduction to International Relations
   - PLS 170 Introduction to Political Philosophy

   (2) All of the following courses (12 credits):
   - PLS 200 Introduction to Political Science
   - PLS 201 Introduction to Methods of Political Analysis
   - PLS 392 Special Topics in Political Science

   (3) At least five additional political science courses at the 300–400 level to total at least 15 credits. Only one of the following courses may be counted toward this requirement:
   - PLS 494 Field Experience in Political Science
   - PLS 495 Independent Study

   (4) One of the following courses (4 credits):
   - PLS 421 Moot Court and Legal Research in Federal Law (W)
   - PLS 422 Seminar in Political Science (W)

   NOTE: Of the courses taken to satisfy the requirements for 3.a. (1) and 3. a. (3), at least two courses must be in American politics (PLS 100 and PLS 301-339), at least two courses must be in comparative/international politics (PLS 140, PLS 160, PLS 342-359, and PLS 361-369), and at least two courses must be in political philosophy (PLS 170 and PLS 370-379). Students should consult with their academic advisor with questions concerning this requirement.

POLITICAL SCIENCE—PRELAW

The prelaw major is designed to introduce students to the study of law and the judicial process and at the same time to provide an orientation to the law which is more general than that of most law schools. Students who elect this program may plan careers in (1) government and large businesses, (2) law firms, (3) individual or partnership practice of civil law, (4) trial practice, including criminal law, and (5) teaching. Since very few law schools provide information about the political, economic, societal and psychological environment in which the law exists, this background must generally be acquired prior to or after law school. The prelaw major is intended to give students the analytical skills and substantive background in those courses which will most likely contribute to their development.

Requirements for the Bachelor of Arts Degree in Political Science—PreLaw

1. The University requirements for bachelor’s degrees as described in the Undergraduate Education section of this catalog: 120 credits, including general elective credits, are required for the Bachelor of Arts degree in Political Science—PreLaw. The University’s Tier II writing requirement for the Political Science—PreLaw major is met by completing one of the following courses: Political Science 421 or 422.    - PLS 494 Field Experience in Political Science
   - PLS 495 Independent Study

   (5) One of the following courses (4 credits):
2. The requirements of the College of Social Science for the Bachelor of Arts degree in Public Policy

The Public Policy major is designed to prepare students for careers in public service, advocacy, and analysis. It aims at a broad understanding of the goals and problems of public policy, the political process that leads to policy development, and the implementation and evaluation of public policy. The major is valuable preparation for those who intend to engage in research for public agencies, non-profits, or voluntary associations interested in the problems of government. A master’s degree program concentrating in public policy is also available for advanced work in preparation for an executive career in these fields.

Requirements for the Bachelor of Arts Degree in Public Policy

LINKED BACHELOR’S-MASTER’S DEGREE IN PUBLIC POLICY

Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science Degree in Economics Master of Public Policy Degree in Public Policy

The department welcomes applications from Michigan State University Economics undergraduate students during the fall semester of their junior year in order to begin the program during the fall semester of their senior year. Admission to the program requires a minimum undergraduate grade-point average of 3.50 and an approved program of study for the Master of Public Policy degree in Public Policy at the time of admission. Admission to the Linked Bachelor’s-Master’s Program allows the application of up to 9 credits toward the master’s program for qualifying 400-level and above course work taken at the undergraduate level at Michigan State University or an external accredited institution. The number of approved credits, not to exceed 9, are applied toward the credit requirement of the master’s degree. Credits applied to the Linked Bachelor’s-Master’s Program are not eligible to be applied to any other graduate degree program.

GRADUATE STUDY

The Department of Political Science offers a Master of Arts and a Doctor of Philosophy degree program in Political Science and a Master of Public Policy degree program in Public Policy.

The graduate degree programs in the Department of Political Science are designed to help students become thoroughly grounded in the knowledge base and research methods of political science. Training is given in the following major fields of political science: American politics, comparative politics, international politics, public policy, political thought, formal theory, and research methodology.

The Department of Political Science and the Department of Economics jointly offer a Master of Public Policy Degree, as well as Linked Bachelor’s-Master’s Degree in Public Policy. The Master of Public Policy Degree and the Linked Bachelor’s-Master’s Degree in Public Policy provide students with the requisite skills to address complex societal problems, reconcile conflicting political and ethical values in policymaking, make informed decisions about program activities, and provide effective leadership in policy development and implementation.

In addition to meeting the requirements of the university and of the College of Social Science, graduate students must meet the requirements specified below.

Admission

A bachelor’s degree from an accredited educational institution is required for admission. Applicants should have the equivalent of an undergraduate major in political science, in a related social science, or in mathematics, statistics, or computer science. Some background in social science research methods, statistics, and/or basic mathematical operations is recommended. Normally, a minimum grade-point average of 3.20 in the last two years of undergraduate work is required for admission.

Applicants must take the Graduate Record Examination (GRE) General Test. Official results from this examination should be sent to the Department of Political Science.

Admission to the doctoral program is limited to fall semester only. For the Master of Public Policy program, most students are admitted for fall semester; applications for the spring semester will be considered on the basis of available openings. Applications for admission and financial aid should be submitted by March 1. Applications for admission alone will be accepted until approximately May 15.
Academic Standards
Graduate students must maintain a cumulative grade–point average of at least 3.00. Only those courses completed with a grade of 2.5 or higher may be counted toward the requirements for the master's or doctoral degree. A student who received two grades of 2.5 or below, or one grade of 2.0 or below, may be withdrawn from the program. A student who received three grades of 2.5 or below, or two grades of 2.0 or below, will be withdrawn from the program.

POLITICAL SCIENCE

Master of Arts
The Master of Arts program is designed to prepare students for doctoral studies. Those accepted are judged by the committee on admissions as qualified to enter the doctoral program, and it is anticipated they plan to complete this program at Michigan State University.

In addition to meeting the requirements of the university, of the College of Social Science, and of the Department of Political Science, students must meet the requirements specified below.

Requirements for the Master of Arts Degree in Political Science
The program is available only under Plan B (without thesis). The student must complete 39 credits in courses approved by the director of the Master in Public Policy program and distributed as follows:

CREDITS
1. Complete all of the following courses:

2. Complete an additional 9 credits of course work at the 800–level or above as approved by the director of the program.

3. Students with no professional experience will be required to complete 3 credits of Public Policy 894 Field Experience Practicum.

4. Successful completion of a final examination or evaluation.

Doctor of Philosophy
The doctoral degree is generally undertaken by students wishing to teach political science and government at the college level and by those seeking professional careers in political and social research. Special attention is given at the doctoral level to intensive training in political research.

In addition to meeting the requirements of the university, of the College of Social Science, and of the Department of Political Science, students must meet the requirements specified below.

Requirements for the Doctor of Philosophy Degree in Political Science

c. At least three courses in a minor field, approved by the student's guidance committee, selected from one of the following political science fields: American politics, comparative politics, international relations, political philosophy, public policy, research methodology, or formal theory.

2. Pass a comprehensive examination in both the major and minor field.

Additional requirements and evaluations are described in the Ph.D. Handbook on the department's Web site at www.pls.msu.edu.

Academic Standards
DEPARTMENT of PSYCHOLOGY

Juli Wade, Chairperson

As a science, psychology is concerned with theories, principles, facts and methods as they relate to understanding, predicting and influencing human behavior; how people perceive; how people learn and forget; how people think, fear, hate, and love; how people develop their individualities or personalities; and how people are influenced by physical and environmental conditions, including social factors.

As a profession, psychology involves the use of the theories, principles, facts and methods of its science to assist individuals and groups in arriving at better solutions to psychological problems and concerns.

Courses in psychology provide cultural background, supplement the training of students in many other fields concerned with people, and sometimes become the area of major study for those who plan occupations emphasizing human relations.

The undergraduate program emphasizes the scientific method and theories of behavior. The student is advised to obtain preparation in supporting subjects such as mathematics, philosophy of science, other biological and social sciences, foreign language, and literature. The student who plans a career in psychology, as such, will find graduate education a necessity.

Graduate program descriptions are available from the departmental Web site at: www.psychology.msu.edu.

UNDERGRADUATE PROGRAMS

Requirements for the Bachelor of Arts Degree in Psychology

1. The University requirements for bachelor's degrees as described in the Undergraduate Education section of this catalog; 120 credits, including general elective credits, are required for the Bachelor of Arts degree in Psychology.

   The University's Tier II writing requirement for the Psychology major is met by completing one of the following courses: Psychology 401, 402, 405, 409, 410, 411, 413, 424, 440, 445, 457, or 493. Those courses are referenced in item 3. e. below.

2. The requirements of the College of Social Science for the Bachelor of Science degree.

   The completion of the sciences and mathematics courses referenced in item 4. below may also be used to satisfy the College of Social Science NATURAL SCIENCE REQUIREMENT (referenced in section II. C. under the heading Graduation Requirements for the Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science Degrees in the college statement.)

3. The following required major courses:

   a. All of the following courses:

      - PSY 101 Introductory Psychology ........................................ 4
      - PSY 295 Data Analysis in Psychological Research .................... 3
      - PSY 395 Research Design and Measurement in Psychological Research ........................................ 3

TEACHER CERTIFICATION OPTIONS

A psychology disciplinary minor is available for teacher certification.

Students who elect the psychology disciplinary minor must contact the Department of Psychology.

For additional information, refer to the statement on TEACHER CERTIFICATION in the Department of Teacher Education section of this catalog.

GRADUATE STUDY

The primary objective of doctoral programs in the Department of Psychology is to develop psychologists who are creative scholars. At the same time, students must develop the basic skills of their particular specialty and be well prepared for job entry duties and responsibilities through carefully supervised experience in research, teaching, and consulting. Relevant learning experiences are arranged in agencies such as industries, clinics, hospitals, schools, and government offices as needed by the individual student on-campus.

Our graduate programs include: behavioral neuroscience, cognition and cognitive neuroscience, clinical, ecological/community, organizational, and social/personality psychology. Students in these programs may also participate in advanced graduate training through a concentration in Quantitative Methodology and Evaluation Science (QMES).

A fully online master's program and graduate certificate in Program Evaluation are available. See http://progeval.msu.edu.

Students who are enrolled in master's or doctoral degree programs in the Department of Psychology may elect an Interdepartmental Specialization in Cognitive Science. For additional information, refer to the statement on Interdepartmental Graduate Specializations in Cognitive Science. For additional information, contact the Department of Psychology.

Students who are enrolled in Master of Arts and Doctor of Philosophy degree programs in the Department of Psychology may elect specializations in Infancy and Early Childhood. For additional information, refer to the statement on Interdepartmental Graduate Specializations in Infancy and Early Childhood.

PSYCHOLOGY

Master of Arts and Doctor of Philosophy

Students are accepted for graduate study in psychology only if judged by a departmental committee to be qualified to complete a doctoral degree, and programs of study are planned with this goal in mind; the master's sequence is generally developed as an integral part of the doctoral program with special attention given to the plans and needs of each student. Additional details are given under the doctoral program as outlined below. There is no terminal master's program.

In addition to meeting the requirements of the university and of the College of Social Science, students must meet the requirements specified below.

Admission

Factors given major consideration for admission to the graduate program at the first-year level include (1) an approved bachelor's degree from a recognized college or university, (2) a junior-senior undergraduate grade-point average of 3.20 or better in academic study, (3) undergraduate courses in experimental psychology and statistics, (4) satisfactory scores on the Graduate Record Examination General Test and Subject Test in Psychology, and (5) approval by a departmental committee. The same factors are considered for entrance at an advanced level, plus a record of scholarly achievements in the graduate study of psychology. That an applicant has achieved the above is not sufficient for admission. The number of applicants with superior qualifications exceeds the number of students that can be accommodated.

The department is especially interested in quality students and generally accepts them regardless of their undergraduate majors provided that they have adequate background for graduate study in psychology. Students meeting only the requirements for admission to provisional status are not generally accepted.

Students planning to apply for admission to graduate work in psychology should correspond with the department by October in order to meet the January 5 application deadline. This will allow time for tests and other formalities which must be completed before admission. Completed applications must be received by January 5 for consideration for the subsequent fall semester. Only rarely are new students admitted for semesters other than fall semester.

Requirements for the Master of Arts and Doctor of Philosophy Degrees in Psychology

To meet individual needs, every student has a guidance committee with the student's advisor as chairperson. The committee develops a program of studies in consultation with the student. In the doctoral program, a comprehensive examination is required.

There is no general language requirement. Where acquaintance with a foreign language is necessary for advancing the special interest of a particular student, the guidance committee may impose foreign language requirements.

Psychology graduate students may participate in advanced graduate training through a concentration in Quantitative Methodology and Evaluation Science (QMES). Students selecting this concentration must complete two prerequisite courses, three advanced training courses, and one student-developed project under the supervision of two members of the Quantitative Methodology and Evaluation Science faculty. For additional information on specific requirements, refer to the Quantitative Methodology and Evaluation Science Web site at www.psychology.msu.edu/GraduateProgram/Quant.htm.

Clinical psychology graduate students also participate in two concentrations: Multiculturalism and Diversity in Clinical Psychology (Psychology 828, 853, 854, 855, 952, 954, and 3 credits of Psychology 994) and Research Methods in Clinical Psychology (Psychology 818, 828, 853, 854, 855, 952, and 954).

Transfer Credits

For Law College students who have been admitted to the dual J.D. - M.A. program with Michigan State University - College of Law, a maximum of 9 credits from Michigan State University - College of Law may be transferred to the M.A. program with a major in psychology. A grade of 2.0 in a Law course will transfer to MSU as a passing grade. Students will be assessed at the Law College tuition rate with a graduate assistantship covering only the MSU cost of in-state tuition.

PROGRAM EVALUATION

Graduate Certificate

The Graduate Certificate in Program Evaluation prepares students for evaluation careers in diverse settings including government, education, social services, and evaluation consulting firms. It emphasizes professional development in history, theory, and standards of evaluation practice, evaluation methods, and evaluation practice skills.

Admission
To be admitted to the Graduate Certificate in Program Evaluation, applicants must have:
1. an academic record equivalent to at least 3.00 (B) in undergraduate course work in their junior and senior year. This requirement is waived for students currently pursuing a master's or doctoral degree program at MSU.
2. submitted three letters of recommendation and a personal statement about their academic and professional goals and experience. This requirement is waived for students currently pursuing a master's or doctoral degree program at MSU. Students currently pursuing a graduate degree at MSU should submit a letter from their program adviser or chairperson indicating that the student is in good standing and they agree the certificate is an appropriate adjunct training opportunity.

Admission to the program is selective and meeting the minimum standards does not guarantee admission. The applicant's overall record is considered, including the student's personal statement, recommendations, academic transcripts, and other documentation as required.

Requirements for the Graduate Certificate in Program Evaluation
The Graduate Certificate in Program Evaluation is available only online. A total of 12 credits are required for the certificate.

Master of Arts
The Master of Arts degree in Program Evaluation prepares students for evaluation careers in diverse settings including government, education, social services, and evaluation consulting firms. It emphasizes professional development in history, theory, and standards of evaluation practice; evaluation methods; effective interpersonal and communication skills; and management of evaluation activities. Students will obtain direct practice experience under the supervision of program faculty.

In addition to meeting the requirements of the university and the College of Social Science, students must meet the requirements specified below.

Admission
To be admitted to the Master of Arts degree in Program Evaluation, applicants must have:
1. a bachelor's degree from a recognized educational institution.
2. an academic record equivalent to at least 3.00 (B) in undergraduate course work in their junior and senior year.
3. at least 12 undergraduate credits in a social science such as anthropology, sociology, or psychology.
4. submitted three letters of recommendation and a personal statement about their academic and professional goals and experience.
5. submitted Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) scores if they are an international student.

Admission to the program is selective and meeting the minimum standards does not guarantee admission. The applicant's overall record is considered, including the student's personal statement, recommendations, academic transcripts, and other documentation as required.

Requirements for the Master of Arts Degree in Program Evaluation
The Master of Arts degree in Program Evaluation is available only online and only under Plan B (non-thesis). A total of 37 credits are required for the degree.

1. Students must complete 37 credits from the following courses:

SCHOOL of SOCIAL WORK

Steven G. Anderson, Director

Social work is a profession that focuses on helping vulnerable and oppressed people improve their lives. Social work uses a wide range of approaches toward this end, with the intent of improving both personal life circumstances as well as the broader institutions and social forces that affect these populations. Our field stresses the interaction between the person and the person's environment as we develop solutions. Social work is guided by a code of ethics that encompasses values fundamental to our practice, such as respect for diversity, self-determination, empowerment, and focus on the most vulnerable members of society.

Our programs prepare students for social work practice in a wide range of settings, including at the individual, community, state, national, and international levels. Social workers engage populations experiencing diverse needs, such as in child welfare, aging, schools, health care, criminal justice, or poor communities. Experiential learning is critical to social work education; all students complete structured field placements in community-based and other service agencies that introduce students to real social work practice issues. These field placements comprise a significant portion of study at both the undergraduate and graduate levels.

UNDERGRADUATE PROGRAM

The Bachelor of Arts Degree in Social Work is accredited by the Council on Social Work Education. The primary educational goal of the program is to prepare students for beginning generalist social work practice. Students apply for admission to the social work major and primarily complete course work in their junior and senior years. Students also complete a field practicum in their senior year. For a detailed program description visit www.socialwork.msu.edu.

Admission as a Junior

The number of students who can be admitted as juniors to the bachelor's degree program in social work is limited. Applications are accepted and reviewed only during the spring semester of each year.

All persons who are interested in applying for admission as juniors to the bachelor's degree program in social work must request a special application form and detailed information regarding admission requirements and procedures from the School of Social Work Website at http://www.socialwork.msu.edu/Programs/BASW.

Students who are enrolled in colleges and universities other than Michigan State University should contact Michigan State University's Office of Admissions and the School of Social Work regarding admission to the bachelor's degree program in social work as transfer students.

To be considered for admission as a junior to the bachelor's degree program in social work, a student must have:
1. Submitted a completed application form by the deadline specified by the school.
2. Completed Social Work 200, which is a prerequisite for the 300-400 level courses required for the bachelor's degree.
3. Completed the courses in related areas referenced in items 3. (1), (2), (3), and (4) under the heading Requirements for the Bachelor of Arts Degree in Social Work.

Admission to the bachelor's degree program in social work is competitive, and there is no guarantee that students with a major preference in social work will be admitted to the bachelor's degree program as juniors. In making admissions decisions, the faculty considers the relative qualifications of applicants, their suitability for the program, and the enrollment capacity of the program.

A student who has been admitted to the bachelor's degree program in social work for a given semester, but then decides not to enroll for that semester, would need to reapply for admission to the program. There is no guarantee that the student would be admitted to the program again.

Honors Study

Students interested in honors study in social work should consult with academic advisors in the school.

MINOR IN HUMAN BEHAVIOR AND SOCIAL SERVICES

The Minor in Human Behavior and Social Services, administered by the School of Social Work, provides an interdisciplinary study of the human behavior and social services that prepare students to critically assess the different perspectives on aspects of human behavior which may create the need for assistance and how social service programs respond to those needs.

The minor is available as an elective to students who are enrolled in bachelor's degree programs in the College of Social Science. With the approval of the department and college that administer the student's degree program, the courses that are used to satisfy the minor may also be used to satisfy the requirements for the bachelor's degree.

Students who plan to complete the requirements of the minor should consult their major undergraduate advisor in the College of Social Science.

GRADUATE STUDY

Our fully accredited Master of Social Work (MSW) degree program prepares students for advanced and more specialized social work practice. Students select either Clinical Social Work or Organization and Community Leadership as an advanced concentration. The Clinical Social Work track prepares students to engage in professional practice with individuals, families, and small groups, using many different intervention techniques. The Organization and Community Leadership concentration trains students for work in policy, advocacy, community development, and administrative positions.

The school emphasizes access to social work education, and we have developed a wide range of options to meet the diverse needs of students. The school offers full MSW programs in Flint, Saginaw, and Oakland County in addition to our East Lansing campus. We also operate a Weekend MSW program in Lansing, and a Statewide Blended program that utilizes a mix of online courses, videoconferencing, and small group face-to-face education to provide MSW access across Michigan. For all of these options, students can complete their field placements near where they live or work.

The school offers both regular and advanced standing MSW program options. The regular program requires 57 credits for degree completion. Students admitted after having completed the equivalent of the first year of this program at another university must complete a minimum of 31 credits in the MSW program at Michigan State University. A maximum of 26 credits of graduate level work in another Council on Social Work Education (CSWE) accredited program may be applied to the credit requirements under the MSW degree.

Students who hold a bachelor's degree in social work from a program accredited by the CSWE may apply for admission to the Accelerated Master of Social Work Advanced Standing program. The Advanced Standing program requires a minimum of 38 credits for the MSW degree, and may be completed with full-time study over one year or part-time study over two years.

Students enrolled in the MSW degree program may complete an optional degree certificate program in areas including school social work, law and social work, advanced clinical practice with families, social work with older adults, substance abuse, social work and health, or trauma-focused social work practice.

Students who are enrolled in the Master of Social Work degree program in the School of Social Work may elect specializations in Infancy and Early Childhood. For additional information, refer to the statement on Interdepartmental Graduate Specializations in Infancy and Early Childhood.

The Doctor of Philosophy degree in Social Work, which is open to students who have earned an MSW degree, emphasizes the development, analysis, and application of social work knowledge, and is designed to prepare social workers for research and teaching positions in the academy and/or applied research settings.

Master of Social Work

The Master of Social Work degree program includes extensive required courses and course sequences in social work. Only Plan B (without thesis) is available.

In addition to meeting the requirements of the university and of the College of Social Science, students must meet the requirements specified below.

Admission to the Master of Social Work Degree Program

All students, with the exception of those applying for the Blended Statewide Clinical program and the Weekend Program with a major in organization and community leadership, begin the Master of Social Work degree program in the fall semester to align their enrollment with the sequencing of required courses. Therefore, applicants should seek admission during the previous fall semester. Applicants interested in the Blended Statewide Clinical program should apply for summer admission because it begins in a summer session. Students wishing to be considered for admission must submit the application materials requested on the School of Social Work Web site at www.socialwork.msu.edu. Although an undergraduate major or concentration in the social sciences or in social work may be helpful, it is not required.

To be considered for admission to the Master of Social Work degree program, a person must have:

1. A bachelor's degree from a recognized institution.
2. A grade-point average of at least 3.0 (on a 4.0 scale) during undergraduate study or in 14 or more credits of graduate study. The grade-point average in the last 60 credits or their equivalents of undergraduate course work is primarily considered.
3. Prior academic record including at least 19 credits in liberal arts.

Applicants will be evaluated on a combination of factors:

1. Grade-point average in undergraduate study or in 14 or more credits of graduate study.
2. Evidence of personal qualities considered important for the practice of social work.
3. Judgments by the faculty of the candidate’s commitment to social work and suitability for the profession, based on a reading of the application.
4. Length and type of work and volunteer experience.
5. Three letters of reference.

In addition to these requirements, applicants to the Blended Statewide Clinical program must:

1. Live more than 50 miles from both the East Lansing and Flint campuses.
2. Have regular access to high-speed internet service.
3. Have at least two years of full-time experience, or equivalent, in human services during the last five years, generally after completion of the bachelor's degree.
4. Complete an online assessment and orientation program on how to learn effectively in the online environment.
5. Participate in a personal interview.

Requirements for the Master of Social Work Degree Program

The student must complete 57 credits in specified instruction in social work. Detailed plans of study are available in the Master of Social Work Manual, which is available at www.socialwork.msu.edu. Required course work for both the Clinical Social Work major and the Organization and Community Leadership major are taken in the following areas: social work practice methods, human behavior and the social environment, social welfare policy, research methods, and field education.

Admission to the Accelerated Master of Social Work Degree Program

Persons who hold a recent bachelor’s degree in social work from a program that is accredited by the Council on Social Work Education (CSWE) may apply for admission to the Accelerated Master of Social Work Advanced Standing Program.

Students are admitted only for summer session. Applicants should therefore seek admission during the previous fall semester. Students wishing to be considered for admission must submit all the application materials available on the School of Social Work Web site (www.socialwork.msu.edu), as well as the application to the university for Graduate Study.
To be considered for admission to the Accelerated Master of Social Work Advanced Standing program, a person must have:

1. A bachelor's degree in social work from a program that is accredited by the Council on Social Work Education (CSWE) and was granted within the last six years.
2. A grade-point average of at least 3.25 (on a 4.0 scale) during undergraduate study. The grade-point average in the last 60 credits or their equivalents of undergraduate course work is also considered.

Applicants will be evaluated on a combination of factors:

1. Judgments by the faculty of the candidate's commitment to social work and suitability for the profession, based on a reading of the application.
2. Length and type of work and volunteer experience.
3. Two letters of reference and a field/practicum employment evaluation from the undergraduate faculty or agency practicum instructor or from the most recent social work agency at which the applicant was employed.
4. Evidence of personal qualities considered important for the practice of social work.

Persons who are admitted to the Accelerated Master of Social Work Advanced Standing program must have successfully completed an undergraduate course in statistics or an approved equivalent at the time of matriculation.

Requirements for the Accelerated Master of Social Work Advanced Standing Program

The student must complete 38 credits in specified instruction in social work. Detailed plans of study are available in the Master of Social Work Manual which is located at www.socialwork.msu.edu. Required course work for both the Clinical Social Work major and the Organization and Community Leadership major are taken in the following areas: social work practice methods, social welfare policy, research methods, and field education.

Residence

One year of residence consisting of two consecutive semesters and involving at least 7 credits of graduate course work each semester is required. If students attend part–time, the residency requirement must be met in the year that the advanced methods and practicum courses are being completed.

Part–Time Students

Both the Master of Social Work program and the Accelerated Master of Social Work Advanced Standing program are available on a part–time basis. At the time of admission, students must apply for either part–time or full–time study. Students may not transfer between part–time and full–time study without approval of the school. Part–time students must progress through a plan of study as specified by the school. All students must meet their residence requirements during the year in which they are enrolled in the advanced practice and field instruction courses.

Doctor of Philosophy

The Doctor of Philosophy in Social Work is an interdisciplinary program rooted in the historical, epistemological, and philosophical bases of social work. It is designed to prepare social workers for leadership positions in the profession as educators, researchers, policy makers, and/or administrators. It places emphasis on the development, analysis, and application of social work knowledge related to professional practice, and is designed to contribute to the advancement of knowledge in the social work profession and field of social welfare.

In addition to meeting the requirements of the university and the College of Social Science, students must meet the requirements specified below.

Admission

The doctoral program in social work invites applications from experienced social workers who hold a Master of Social Work (MSW) degree from a Council on Social Work Education (CSWE) accredited graduate program. Applicants must provide evidence of outstanding professional competence, academic excellence and a capacity to develop concepts and articulate issues related to the social work profession, and an interest in advanced social work research, education, and practice. Applicants with outstanding academic records may be admitted to the program provisionally and permitted to make up deficiencies on a collateral basis.

Requirements for the Doctor of Philosophy Degree in Social Work

The program requires 21 credits in post-master's social work education, including the completion of a research internship. Students must also take 18 credits of course work outside the School of Social Work including 6 credits of statistics and 12 credits in a social science discipline or focused cognate. In addition, students must complete a comprehensive examination administered by the student’s guidance committee, complete 24 credits of dissertation research, and successfully defend the dissertation.

DEPARTMENT of SOCIOLOGY

Dean Rehberger, Acting Chairperson

The world is rapidly changing. Global processes are transforming societies, changing cities and forms of economic production, creating new ways to communicate and precipitating new migration patterns, impacting human health and life chances, reshaping the environment, increasing social inequalities, and posing new risks and opportunities. New forms of labor, social movements, family life, health care delivery, military conflicts, and ways to distribute food and services are emerging. These global forces are changing the character of sociology itself.

The MSU Department of Sociology examines these changing social dynamics through domestic and international scholarship. To signify this perspective, the department has adopted the theme of global transformation to indicate what unifies the diverse activities of our faculty and students.

Global transformation implies a commitment to global and cross-national projects and programs. Our research analyzes global social, political, and cultural differences as well as how a global system often shapes social and environmental processes and movements, change, racial and ethnic inequalities, gender relations, social and economic conflict, and innovation.

UNDERGRADUATE PROGRAM

Sociologists study how societies are created, maintained, and challenged. They think about the ways in which individuals and social structures interact. The department's undergraduate program is designed to give students an understanding of these processes throughout the world and of the major patterns of social behavior and organization in the United States. Courses deal with a range of topics including the basic institutions of society such as the economy and industry, education, family, health care and medicine, politics, sciences, mass media, the arts, and technology. Students examine how change occurs in rural and urban communities, in the environment, and in bureaucracies. They consider how knowledge may be used to bring about change. Courses on international development, sex and gender, racial and ethnic inequality, and changes in the lifecycle focus on the rich cultural and social diversity of individual and group behavior. Courses in social psychology and personality enable students to understand how individual behavior is affected by group life. Courses that focus on fundamental methods and techniques of research are important for understanding how to collect and interpret data on individual and group behavior. Opportunities are also available for participation in faculty research projects where the knowledge and skills learned in the classroom can be applied to real world situations. Some students have used their bachelor's degrees in sociology as a foundation for graduate and professional study in medicine, law, business, urban planning, social work, labor and industrial relations, and public health, or for advanced graduate study in preparation for careers as college teachers and researchers. Others may pursue positions in business, public service, sales research, teaching, public relations, and administration.

A Minor in Sociology is available as an elective to students who are enrolled in bachelor's degree programs at Michigan State University other than the Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science degree in Sociology. With the approval of the department and college that administer the student's degree program, the courses that are used to satisfy the minor may also be used to satisfy the requirements for the bachelor's degree. A total of 19 credits in the Department of Sociology are required for the minor. For further information about the minor in Sociology, visit www.soc.msu.edu.

Requirements for the Bachelor of Science Degree in Sociology

1. The University requirements for bachelor's degrees as described in the Undergraduate Education section of this catalog; 120 credits, including general elective credits, are required for the Bachelor of Science degree in Sociology.

2. The requirements of the College of Social Science Bachelor of Arts degree.

3. Complete three elective courses in Sociology at the 300-400 level. At least 1.1 or 12 additional credits in the following departments or programs: Biochemistry and Molecular Biology, Biological Science, Chemistry, Entomology, Earth and Environmental Science, Mathematics, Microbiology and Molecular Genetics, Physics and Astronomy, Plant Biology, Plant Pathology, Statistics and Probability, and Integrative Biology. The completion of courses taken in fulfillment of the University Mathematics requirement may not apply towards this requirement. Students should see their academic advisor to obtain a list of approved courses which will meet this requirement.

4. Complete 1 credit of experiential learning which can be satisfied through one of the following courses that is connected to a 300-400 level sociology course:
   - SOC 496 Individual Readings
   - SOC 497 Individual Research
   - SOC 498 Sociology Internship

5. Complete 1 credit of experiential learning which can be satisfied through one of the following courses that is connected to a 300-400 level sociology course:
   - SOC 496 Individual Readings
   - SOC 497 Individual Research
   - SOC 498 Sociology Internship

   Enrollment in SOC 496 must be connected to participation in either a study abroad program or study away program.

Requirements for the Bachelor of Arts Degree in Sociology

1. The University requirements for bachelor's degrees as described in the Undergraduate Education section of this catalog; 120 credits, including general elective credits, are required for the Bachelor of Arts degree in Sociology.

2. The requirements of the College of Social Science Bachelor of Arts degree.

3. The following required major courses:

   a. All of the following courses:
      - SOC 100 Introduction to Sociology
      - SOC 214 Social Inequality
      - SOC 281 Methods of Social Research I
      - SOC 282 Methods of Social Research II
      - SOC 488 Sociological Theory (W)
      - SOC 499 Social Issues and Change in Contemporary Society (W)

   b. One of the following courses that are related to diversity:
      - SOC 215 Race and Ethnicity
      - SOC 216 Sex and Gender

   c. A minimum of three additional Sociology courses at the 300 level or higher, at least one of which must be at the 400 level

4. Complete a 1 credit experiential learning experience through one of the following options, approved by the student's academic adviser:
   - SOC 486 Individual Readings (Study Abroad)
   - SOC 496 Individual Readings (Study Away)
   - SOC 497 Individual Research
   - SOC 498 Sociology Internship

MINOR IN SOCIOLGY

The Minor in Sociology, which is administered by the Department of Sociology, provides a fundamental understanding of the linkages between agency and structure in society. Students obtain knowledge of the principles of sociology, sociological inquiry, diversity in society, and the ways in which global forces are transforming modern society.

The minor is available as an elective to students who are enrolled in bachelor's degree programs at Michigan State University other than the Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science Degree in Sociology. With the approval of the department and college that administers the student's degree program, the courses that are used to satisfy the minor may also be used to satisfy the requirements for the bachelor's degree.

Students who plan to complete the requirements for the minor should consult an undergraduate advisor in the Department of Sociology.

Requirements for the Minor in Sociology

Complete a minimum of 19 credits in the Department of Sociology from the following:

1. Both of the following courses (7 credits):
   - SOC 100 Introduction to Sociology
   - SOC 131 Social Problems

2. One of the following courses (3 credits):
   - SOC 215 Race and Ethnicity
   - SOC 216 Sex and Gender

3. Complete three elective courses in Sociology at the 300-400 level. At least one course must be at the 400 level. Students may use SOC 281 Methods of Social Research I to fulfill this requirement. The courses must be approved by the student's academic advisor.
TEACHER CERTIFICATION OPTIONS

A sociology disciplinary minor is available for teacher certification. Students who elect the sociology disciplinary minor must contact the Department of Sociology. For additional information, refer to the statement on TEACHER CERTIFICATION in the Department of Teacher Education section of this catalog.

GRADUATE STUDY

The MSU graduate sociology program seeks to develop professionals who will be creative researchers, teachers, and practitioners in knowledge production. The department has five areas of concentration and a number of specialties:

1. Community and Urban. Areas of study include community development, decline and environmental justice; community health; creative communities and fostering creativity; urban and regional economic and transportation networks; expressive cultural behaviors of U.S. African American communities; international development and community change; international urban transformations; social stratification and race in communities; gangs, violence, criminal justice in urban communities; urban food systems and food security.

2. Environment. Areas of study include food and energy production; land use; our interactions with other species; climate change, pollution, and changes in ecosystem structure and function; and human environment intersections.

3. Family. Areas of study include cultural production and maintenance among minority families; domestic violence; family formation and dissolution; gender; health and aging; impact of social change on the family structure, dynamics, and effectiveness; intergenerational transfer; intersectionality and social inequality; LGBT families; marriage and cohabitation; divorce and widowhood; migration and family; religion and family; work-family conflict.

4. Health and Medicine. Areas of study include the social context of health, illness, and health care; with a central focus on health disparities by race/ethnicity, social class, gender, and marital status; political, economic, and environmental circumstances that threaten health; and societal forces that impact the health care system.

5. Migration. Areas of study include the African diaspora; the demography of migration; development and migration; the environment and migration; gender and migration; health and migration; migrant ethnic entrepreneurship, communities, and conflict; migrant integration; migration, race, and refugees; migration research methods.

Students who are enrolled in Master of Science degree programs in the Department of Sociology may elect a Specialization in Food Safety. For additional information, refer to the statement on the specialization in the College of Veterinary Medicine section of this catalog.

Students who are enrolled in Master of Arts and Doctor of Philosophy degree programs in the Department of Sociology may elect specializations in Infantery and Early Childhood. For additional information, refer to the statement on Interdepartmental Graduate Specializations in Infantery and Early Childhood.

For further information about graduate study in sociology, consult the department’s Graduate Manual or visit www.sociology.msu.edu.

SOCIOLoGY

Although the department views the Doctor of Philosophy degree as the terminal degree in sociology, a master’s degree program with a major in sociology is available.

Master of Arts

In addition to meeting the requirements of the university and of the College of Social Science, students must meet the requirements specified below:

Requirements for the Master of Arts Degree in Sociology

The program is available only under Plan A (with thesis). The student must meet the requirements specified below:

1. Complete 30 credits including:
   a. All of the following courses (12 credits):
      SOC 801 Global Transformations .....................3
      SOC 815 Classical Sociological Theory .................3
      SOC 881 Analysis of Social Data I .....................3
      SOC 885 Methods of Sociological Inquiry ..............3
   b. One of the following courses (3 credits):
      SOC 954 Techniques of Population Analysis ............3
      SOC 986 Survey Research Principles ....................3
      SOC 989 Topics in Sociological Methodology ..........3
   c. At least three courses in one of the department’s major research themes areas of concentration.
   d. Complete 4 to 8 credits of Sociology 899 Master’s Thesis Research.

2. Present the thesis at a colloquium of the faculty who are associated with the student’s major research theme area of concentration. The presentation must be acceptable to the faculty and be suitable for presentation at a professional meeting or publication in a professional journal.

3. Participate in the teaching assistant workshop offered by the department.

4. Participate in the Sociology Graduate Seminar for First-Year Students.

Doctor of Philosophy

The doctoral degree program in sociology is designed to give the student a general background in sociological theory and methodology, as well as training in a major substantive area of the discipline.

While there is no language requirement, where acquaintance with a foreign language is necessary for advancing the special interest of the student, the student, in consultation with the guidance committee, may decide upon the study of a foreign language appropriate to their research and career development.

In addition to meeting the requirements of the university and of the College of Social Science, students must meet the requirements specified below:

Requirements for the Doctor of Philosophy Degree in Sociology

In addition to completing the requirements for the Master of Arts Degree in Sociology noted above, the student must meet the requirements specified below:

1. Complete both of the following courses (6 credits):
   a. SOC 816 Contemporary Sociological Theory ............3
   b. SOC 999 Professional Training Seminar .................3

2. Complete one of the following, either a. or b. (3 credits):
   a. SOC 882 Analysis of Social Data II ..................3
   b. One of the following courses (3 credits):
      SOC 954 Techniques of Population Analysis ............3
      SOC 986 Qualitative Field Research ....................3
      SOC 989 Topics in Sociological Methodology ..........3

   Students must select one of the courses that was not used to fulfill the requirements for the Master of Arts Degree in Sociology.

3. Two additional courses selected from the department’s major research theme areas of concentration that were not used to satisfy the requirements for the Master of Arts Degree in Sociology. The courses must be approved by the student’s guidance committee.

5. Successful completion of the comprehensive examination.

GRADUATE SPECIALIZATION IN ANIMAL STUDIES: SOCIAL SCIENCE AND HUMANITIES PERSPECTIVE

The Graduate Specialization in Animal Studies: Social Science and Humanities Perspective, which is administered by the Department of Sociology, provides graduate students with basic knowledge in relationships between humans and animals and how they are linked together in a fragile biosphere.

The graduate specialization is available as an elective for students who are enrolled in master’s or doctoral degree programs at Michigan State University. With the approval of the department and college that administers the student’s degree program, the courses that are used to satisfy the specialization may also be used to satisfy the requirements for the master’s or doctoral degree.

Students who plan to complete the requirements for the graduate specialization should consult the graduate advisor for the specialization in the Department of Sociology.

PROGRAM in WOMEN, GENDER, and SOCIAL JUSTICE

Lisa Fine, Director

The Women, Gender, and Social Justice program is a cross-disciplinary academic unit that is administered jointly by the College of Social Science and the College of Arts and Letters. The College of Arts and Letters is the primary administrative unit and the Center for Gender in Global Context oversees advising. The program offers a cross-disciplinary major in women’s and gender studies leading to the Bachelor of Arts degree. In addition, an undergraduate minor in women’s and gender studies is offered. For additional information, refer to the Women, Gender, and Social Justice Program statement in the College of Arts and Letters section of this catalog.

CENTER FOR ADVANCED STUDY OF INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT

Robert S. Glew, Director

The Center for Advanced Study of International Development (CASID) is a multidisciplinary unit, organized within the College of Social Science in cooperation with the Office of the Dean of International Studies and Programs and strengthened by the participation of scholars from a variety of other colleges. CASID works to facilitate and catalyze MSU faculty research and scholarship in fields related to international development. The Center is a national and international center of excellence and supports the creation, dissemination, and application of knowledge about international development. CASID seeks to advance knowledge and transform lives through collaborative learning and responsive engagement with peoples and communities around the globe. Established in 1981, CASID has been funded by the U.S. Department of Education to operate as a National Resource Center for Foreign Language and International Studies and continues to award Foreign Language and International Studies Fellowships under Title VI of the Higher Education Act.

CASID also promotes undergraduate and graduate programs focusing on issues of international development, works with academic units to assure continued availability and quality of relevant course offerings, coordinates issue-oriented interest groups, and supports scholarly presentations, and outreach programming.

An undergraduate Minor in Global Studies in Social Science and Minor in International Development are available to interested students as well as the Graduate Specialization in International Development. For additional information, refer to the statement on Minors and Specializations in the College of Social Science section of this catalog.

CENTER FOR GLOBAL CHANGE AND EARTH OBSERVATIONS

Jiaguo Qi, Director

The Center for Global Change and Earth Observations (CGCEO) is an interdisciplinary research unit administered by the College of Social Science, and which collaborates closely with other units at MSU. Faculty from across the university participate in research focused on the study of global environmental change and its impacts using geospatial information technologies, earth observation satellites, and process-based models to measure, analyze, and predict the human and physical processes of global environmental change. The Center strives to strengthen interdisciplinary approaches for addressing global change at all scales, from the local to the global and from daily to decadal, using the tools of the social and physical sciences.
The Center promotes basic and applied research on global environmental change in key areas including land-use and -cover change dynamics, urbanization and sustainability, land degradation and social-ecological processes; climate change and modeling; assessment and analyses of coupled human and natural systems, assessment and modeling of ecosystem services, carbon sequestration, biodiversity, water and energy fluxes; sustainable development, environmental monitoring and natural resource management. It also seeks to promote the coupling of global scale environmental research with local applications and problem solving. Research is supported through external funding from federal agencies, international organizations, the private sector, and foundations.

The Center develops and uses new tools of geographic information sciences, including open and distributed geographic information systems, satellite remote sensing, spatial and agent-based numerical modeling, field-based sampling, and internet-based spatial decision support systems. It conducts research around the world, with special focus on developing countries in Latin America, Africa (East and West Africa), Eurasia and Asia (Southeast Asia, Central Asia, and East Asia), and Australia, as well as in the Great Lakes and throughout the United States. The Center provides support to graduate research, education and training within the three collaborating colleges and provides academic support for curricula in geographic information science, global change science, and environmental science.

MATRIX: THE CENTER for DIGITAL HUMANITIES and SOCIAL SCIENCES

Dean Rehberger, Director

Matrix: The Center for Digital Humanities and Social Sciences at Michigan State University seeks to advance critical understanding and promote access to knowledge through world-class research in digital humanities and cultural informatics. Digital humanities and cultural informatics bring together the humanist's quest for deeper understanding of human nature, thought, expression, and behavior with the tools, methods and applications of computer science, user experience design, and information and library sciences. Matrix researchers use information and communication technologies to advance, mediate, and inform the humanist disciplines, as well as disciplines within the arts, social sciences, and education. At MSU, Matrix partners in music, history, anthropology and archaeology, education, international studies, museum studies, archives and libraries to build new, global, networked resources, services, and platforms that give life to the metaphor of "Matrix" as the multiple intersections and applications of interdisciplinary research. Matrix therefore applies humanities technology to all the elements of MSU's mission: research, education, outreach, and service to multiple public and professional communities. Guided by basic scholarly and humanist values of excellence, education, access, and inclusiveness, and conducted according to proven, collaborative, scholarly methods and principles, Matrix has become one of the most prestigious humanities technology centers in the world.

To this end, the mission of Matrix: The Center for Digital Humanities and Social Sciences serves as a catalyst for and incubator of the emerging fields of the digital humanities and cultural heritage informatics. In pursuing the Center's vision, Matrix is guided by five broad strategic goals that describe the national research agenda in digital humanities and cultural heritage informatics:

1. Broaden and advance the creation, preservation, access to and interpretation of the human record (both past and present), through collaborative research and development of major digital cultural heritage tools and resources.

2. Forge and strengthen interdisciplinary partnerships, pioneer research and development of pedagogical applications of new digital technologies for the arts, humanities, and social sciences in order to transform teaching and learning.

3. Research, develop, and implement tools and platforms to advance scholarly networking within and across disciplines, develop new forms of online publication within the academy and the broader public.

4. Research, develop and apply information and communication technologies to build domestic and international linkages, promote public involvement, ensure digital equity, and support civil society.

5. Foster a new generation of scholars to research, develop, and implement new technologies, platforms, and approaches for research and teaching, and to pioneer a new type of interdisciplinary humanities scholarship.

INSTITUTE FOR PUBLIC POLICY AND SOCIAL RESEARCH

Matthew Grossmann, Director

The Institute for Public Policy and Social Research is a university-wide research institute located within the College of Social Science. The institute provides research and technical assistance programs aimed at state, regional, and local levels of government, and research on national and international comparative issues. Institute personnel have economic, tax policy and analysis, public policy analysis and evaluation, computer programming, data management, statistical, survey analysis, and methodological expertise. The Institute includes the following units:

Michigan Political Leadership Program. This scholarship-funded certificate program is designed for those seeking greater involvement in the public policy process, particularly while serving in public office. Every year, 24 successful applicants participate in a curriculum that provides a solid foundation in practical politics, public policy analysis and process, personal leadership development, and effective governance. The 10-month program is co-directed by two people, one Republican and one Democrat with extensive experience in public leadership and governance.

Legislative Leadership Program. Sponsored with Michigan State University Extension and MSU’s Office of Governmental Affairs, this program links scholars, legislators, and practitioners in a discussion of public policy issues and the policy making process. The program kicks off every two years shortly after state elections. It invites newly elected state legislators for a multi-day session on current public policy issues.

Student Fellows. Competitively selected graduate and undergraduate students are engaged in work to enrich and expand leadership, policy, and research. Their engagement focuses on compiling, analyzing and publishing research and writing for academic and public audiences.

Public Policy Forums. The institute organizes and carries out regular forums on topics of timely interest for legislators and other governmental decision-makers. They have focused on such issues as energy, education, tax policy, and the state of the nation’s infrastructure and economic development.

Office for Survey Research. The institute specializes in telephone interviews, web-based surveys, and mailed questionnaires in support of both of applied and basic research. It also provides consultation in sampling design, question sequencing, statistical analysis, and other technical aspects of survey research. Projects span needs assessments, epidemiological studies, opinion surveys, client feedback surveys, cognitive interview testing, social or economic impact studies, various aspects of focus group design and operation, and political polls. The Office for Survey Research maintains and operates a state-of-the-art research lab.

State of the State Survey. This telephone survey of approximately 1,000 adult residents of Michigan is the only survey conducted to systematically monitor the public mood on important issues in major regions of the state. The quarterly survey runs about 20 minutes in length, and a portion of that time is devoted to questions monitoring the public’s satisfaction with public leaders and existing economic conditions. Results are published online. MSU faculty, administrators, profit and nonprofit organizations are consistent sponsors of SOSS questions, research contributors and collaborators.

INSTITUTE of PUBLIC UTILITIES

Janice A. Beecher, Director

The Institute of Public Utilities (IPU) supports informed, effective, and efficient regulation of the infrastructure-intensive network industries providing essential utility services – electricity, natural gas, water, and telecommunications. IPU was established in 1965 and operates within the College of Social Science at Michigan State University, the nation’s pioneer land-grant institution. We are located on MSU’s beautiful East Lansing campus and collaborate with faculty and researchers from various academic colleges, departments, and centers. IPU is an independent nonprofit unit of the University and financially self-sustaining. IPU specializes in conducting applied research and providing exceptional learning and networking opportunities to professionals in the regulatory policy community. IPU’s neutral analytical and instructional practice is informed by a broad array of traditional and applied disciplines including economics, political science, law, accounting, finance, and engineering. IPU’s educational forums sharpen the skills needed to address today’s most salient challenges of infrastructure governance, including the integration of markets and economic regulation. IPU is devoted to the ideals of regulatory independence and technical capacity. IPU’s diverse program faculty includes nationally recognized university educators and expert practitioners known for their insight, experience, and teaching ability. Program participation is typically eligible for continuing education credits and can lead to a Certificate of Continuing Regulatory Education (CCRE).
