I M

INTERNAL MEDICINE

College of Osteopathic Medicine

590. Special Problems in Internal Medicine
Fall, Winter, Spring. 1 to 8 credits. Approval of department.

620. Directed Studies
Fall, Winter, Spring. 2 to 24 credits. Grade F in all courses offered in terms 1 through 8.

650. Medicine Clerkship
Fall, Winter, Spring. 2 to 24 credits. May reenroll for a maximum of 12 credits. Grade F in all courses offered in terms 1 through 8.

651. Cardiology Clerkship
Fall, Winter, Spring. 6 credits. May reenroll for a maximum of 12 credits. Grade F in all courses offered in terms 1 through 8.

ITALIAN

See Romance and Classical Languages.

JAMES MADISON COLLEGE

M C

111. Identity and Community in America: An Approach to Writing
Fall. 3(3-0)
Identity in contemporary America. Emphasis on family, love, work, education, race. Materials include journals, biographies, fiction, films, and essays. Students write narratives, autobiographies, and critical analyses based on personal experience.

112. Identity and Community in America: An Approach to Writing
Winter. 3(3-0) M C 111
The quest for community in early America. Authority, morality in the 'good society.' Materials include historical and literary sources, films, and community studies. Students write expository and argumentative essays.

113. Identity and Community in America: An Approach to Writing
Fall. 4(4-0) M C 112
Identity and community in American society under stress, as the Great Depression of Civil War. Materials include fiction, interviews, photography, films. Specific social issues; primary documents and write expository essays.

200. Introduction to the Study of Policy Problems
Fall. 4(4-0)
Introduction to the social sciences and related disciplines as these apply to the study of major social, economic and political problems.

201. Introduction to the Study of Policy Problems
Winter. 4(4-0) M C 200
Continuation of M C 200.

202. Introduction to the Study of Policy Problems
Spring. 4(4-0) M C 201
Continuation of M C 201.

205. Methodology for Policy Sciences
Fall, Winter. 4(4-0)
Introduction to the logic of social research, techniques of data collection, and procedures in quantification. Emphasis will be on interpretation and evaluation of findings for policy decision making.

215. Utopia and the Quest for Social Progress
Spring. 4(3-0)
Survey of utopian thought and literary utopias combined with detailed study of selected major utopias from 'The Republic' to 'Walden Two.'

218. Contemporary Ideologies
Fall. 4(3-0) Students may not receive credit in both M C 218 and PLS 170.
The doctrines by which socio-political movements justify and explain their goals and programs. An introduction to such movements and doctrines as socialism, communism, fascism, nationalism and democracy.

220. Contemporary World Politics
Fall, Winter. 4(3-0) Students may not receive credit in both M C 220 and PLS 160.
Theories explaining actions and interactions of nations, states, regions, and political movements. Analysis of histories, capabilities, and policies. Examination of factors accounting for conflict and collaboration in international relations.

221. The American Foreign Policy Establishment
Winter. Spring. 4(3-0) M C 220 recommended.
Institutions, processes and doctrines of contemporary American foreign policy. The role of the Presidency, Congress, governmental agencies, pressure groups and public opinion.