

GLOBAL STUDIES GSAH IN THE ARTS AND HUMANITIES

College of Arts and Letters

220 Global Interactions and Identities

Fall. 3(3-0)

Specific regions and their interactions across time. Historical and contemporary transformations of cultures and identities, in order to understand global conditions, concepts, and debates from the past and in the present.

230 Values, Experience, and Difference in Global Contexts

Spring. 3(3-0)

Conflicting cultural systems. Differing norms and values. Ethics, values, judgments and responses as they are affected by interactions in global and local contexts.

310 Conflict and Justice in a Global Setting

Fall. 3(3-0) P: (AL 220 and AL 230) and completion of Tier I writing requirement

Addresses global justice and ethics in regional, national, and transnational contexts, through the study of environmental, political, social, religious, sexual and gender conflicts.

311 Crossing Boundaries/Changing Worlds

Spring. 3(3-0) P: (AL 220 and AL 230) and completion of Tier I writing requirement

Causes and motives. Identities and relationships. Transformations and traditions of people moving across geographic boundaries at local, regional, and national levels. Effect on local and global conditions. Creative, philosophical, and historical explorations.

312 Media Mobility: Change, Access, Representation

Fall. 3(3-0) P: (AL 220 and AL 230) and completion of Tier I writing requirement

Circulations and appropriations of media in the context of technological change. Economic power and political conflict. Print, film, radio, television, and digital culture.

450 Global Theory Seminar (W)

Fall. 3(3-0) P: AL 310 and AL 311 and AL 312 RB: AL 310 and AL 311 and AL 312 R: Approval of department.

Broad theoretical debates in global studies. Models and systems that theorize global relationships, formations, and interactions.